

BULL RUN...

By Elizabeth Haggstrom

Children on the current sick list are Barbara Kitchen of Bull Run and Jack Goertz of Aims. Nancy Kitchen suffered hot grease burns last Saturday evening, but though painful, she is up and around.

The men of Aims Community church have organized a new study-work group for the 11 to 14 year-old boys of Aims and Bull Run. Meeting at Pastor Goertz' home Monday were Glen Miller, W. C. Kitchen, and Ralph Bowman. The schedule planned is a work period followed by a short Bible study and then light refreshments to end the meeting. The boys are currently making model airplanes of plastic. The boys have several projects in mind including metal and woodwork. They are very enthusiastic about the new program. Girls in the same age group are reported as asking about a girl's program.

The American Union Sunday School, Proclaim Liberty, shown in Aims Community church last Sunday evening, was not only a very beautiful and entertaining sound movie, but it also gave some of us a new view on American History. We learned that the ASSU was founded by a Mr. Cutler, who was one of the signers of the original Declaration of Independence; that Francis Scott Key, who wrote the National Anthem, was also an ASSU teacher, and that another ASSU official, Mr. Chase, was the U.S. Treasurer who caused our coins to bear the respected words, "In God We Trust."

The Multnomah School of the Bible is holding Missionary week all this week and in order to give the people a chance to go and hear these returned missionaries tell of their experiences, it was decided to omit the regular Bible study this time.

There will be a pot-luck supper next Tuesday evening, February 4 at the church. This will be followed by the quarterly board-member forum.

The Pioneers for Christ leaders, Earl and Fern Weeks, visited another ASSU group at Dodge last Sunday and it is understood they are to conduct the services there next Sunday.

This coming week starts another round of activity for the Aims-Bull Run people. Starting with Bible study at the James Baker home, then the Aims Community Club meets on Wednesday at Catherine Dunlaps with Florence Anderson as the co-hostess. The Bull Run PTA meets at the grade school gym February 6 at 8 PM. The theme will be Founder's Day.

The Bull Run Community Club meets on the second Wednesday of each month, usually in the club hall.

Next Thursday, February 6, is also the date of the Corbett American Legion Auxiliary in the Post hall. Ladies are to set a work night date for making paper flowers for the Veteran's Hospital Wheel Chair parade in the Rose Festival.

DOVER...

By Mrs. John Teninty

Jack Reef is home from the hospital for a short time, but will have to go back for further treatment. Mrs. Reef suffered a heart attack recently, too.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stonemets of Buhl, Idaho, parents of Mrs. Adson Starner, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stonemets of Ft. Collins, Colorado, visited at the Starner home a couple of days last week.

Am happy to report that Everett Cook was able to come home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Updegrave were dinner guests Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Bob Dayton, in Gresham. Mrs. Beulah Dayton of Boring, mother of Mr. Dayton, accompanied them.

Charlie Weaver stood the trip to Arizona last week fairly well and he and Mrs. Weaver are now in Phoenix, looking for a place to live for the family.

Ray Hodge, who is in Emanuel hospital suffering from a broken back and other injuries sustained in a tractor accident last week, has hopes now that his leg will not have to be amputated, which was feared. His back was straightened and put in a cast, which restored circulation to his leg and it is now thought they will be able to save it.

The Dover school lost five pupils last week when the Howard Sears family moved to the Bull Run community.

Mrs. Shoenbein of Portland substituted for Mrs. Link Friday, who, due to a cold, was unable to speak aloud.
