On March 28 the Dover PTA will have a "tacky" party at the school house. Games will be played and one of the highlights of the evening will be a hat sale. where for a very nominal sum one may purchase an Easter Bonnet (?). Ladies are asked to bring pies. Election of officers will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Updegrave and daughters of Corvallis visited the parental Charles Updegrave home last weekend. Cheryl is just able to get around again after being confined to her bed since Thanksgiving with rheumatic fever. Melea, who has been visiting her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Hewitt of the Kelso area, during Cheryl's illness, returned home with her parents.

Mrs. Edith Updegrave has deeded an acre of land on the southwest corner of her place on Kelliher road to the Dover Bible church for the erection of a new church there, which they hope to get started this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Sproat and children, Ronnie, and Rhonda of Bend were recent visitors at the Wilbur Campbell home.

Mr. A. R. Davenport, who has been in poor health for some time is in a serious condition at the Parker Rest Home where he was taken Saturday.

KELSO NEWS

The Melody Bluebirds with Joan Parker as leader visited Parker's rest home March 6. They sang two songs and gave each room a paper flower that they had made.

Zigzag Student In Tournament

Lyle Jarvis, of Zig Zag, and student of speech at Linfield college, was among 420 students from 37 colleges and universities representing six Western states in competition at the 28th annual Linfield College Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament of Champions on the Linfield campus at McMinnville, Oregon.

The grand sweepstakes award went to University of Oregon after three days of competition. Also ranking high were Stanford, Pacific Lutheran and University of Utah.

This tournament is one of the oldest and largest college speech tournaments held annually in the United States. It was founded by Linfield's R. D. Mahaffey who still directs the tourney each year.

Rural Service Request Refused

Petitions for rural mail service on East Dowling road and West Dowling road and the petition for service in the Linhart Butte area have been rejected by the postal department at this time, according to information received here this week.
