Mrs. Freida Whitlock... mother of Henry, Eddie and Bill—most surely is to be admired. Why? The other day Freida had been picking berries all day and was baking two pies for dinner. I wondered where the pie came from, as she was giving me the recipe for her pie crust and preparing dinner as if she had been a lady of leisure. When I left I was plain all in just from the energy Freida puts forth. I say this generation is soft!

Miss June Collins left last week for California where she will soon become Mrs. J. Walton. She said though, she dreaded leaving her many friends here, but she couldn't pass up a good thing—a mate for life! Well that's true.

George and Mae Higgins are leaving for parts unknown having just purchased a 45-ft. home on wheels. They're going to go from one state to another with first stop in Alaska, then California, then East. Comes winter, they plan to pick a place that strikes their fancies and just park for the cold months. That's my idea of getting a lot out of life.

Master Dean Thompson celebrated his fifth birthday last week with several friends. After games and lunch and gifts, his mom looked around for her pride and joy, who had vanished. A thorough check of the house revealed Dean fast asleep in his bed. Sounds like that party was a success. Guests still up and going while Dean was conked out were John Snow, Madge Hunter, Roy and Jan Wolf and Tim Canyon.

Mrs. Minnie Brown and husband, Doc, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warner, are making plans to move into a nice home of their own. You would think Min a blushing bride as she makes preparations for the move.

Mrs. Alice Reich talking about her weekend trip—seems she was to leave Friday night to get to a Rodeo that she had planned for weeks. Alice says she loves animals and wished she was traveling to Africa for big game hunting—wants to bag a lion and a monkey.

"Reb" Wolf baby sitting for three children—she makes for a nice "little mother."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rowland and children returned home from their vacation from California. A change of scenery is good but I'll bet that pretty new home looked powerful good at the end of the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Molter celebrated the 25th year of sheer happiness last Friday and many of their friends helped them enjoy the event, plus two children who came from Fresno. Potluck dinner was served and an anniversary cake with bride and groom atop it. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. King, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilton, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Murphy and the Molter's daughters, Mrs. Pat Morow, an Mrs. John Belton.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson were surprised by a group who gave them a housewarming. Their new home is located by the Bull Run school. Thirty people made up the party and a luck was served. Instead of a gift the couple received money (you know that green stuff) to buy something for their home. A nice gesture, says Lil' Eve.

Mrs. Jack Shoemaker says the stillness of their home is getting her down. It's a fine set-up but a bit lonesome since daughters Chris and Marge are visiting relatives and all left home are two boys—baby Johnny and the spoiled one—Jack (the bread-winner).

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Scott enjoying a new car. Their plans are to take a motor trip to Florida (to break it in) says Rudy. They will be gone a month. (Some people have all the luck, Lil' Eve mumbles in her beard.

Miss Georgia Flint, Seattle is a house guest of Mrs. L. Bryant and great plans are in the offing as they haven't seen each other since college days—years ago! Plan to visit Timberline, Cannon Beach, then on to Eugene to see other college friends—Mrs. Roy Main and Mrs. D. Epperson. Would love to be a mouse in the woodwork an hear those wild college day stories.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brown are really living it up. They left bag and baggage for a Washington vacation. With a baby sitter to care for the four children they are just going to let the rest of the world go by. Lorraine said she will miss the small tots an would have them constantly on her mind. (This is her idea of a good rest and vacation? Could be.)

The Busy Fingers sewing club met at Mrs. Joe Roberts for the final session of the season, to resume in the fall. Potluck was served at noon and the fingers were really busy as the gals were making their 4th of July holiday outfits. Club members are Mrs. J. Would, Mrs. Don Reed, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Ruby Jones, Mrs. M. Morris, Mrs. T. McDonald and Mrs. C.T. Lang.

Mrs. Wanda Hudson and Mrs. Betty Stone sewing again and not potholders either Good luck once more to you and yours.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Nicholson, plowing up their strawberries in disgust. (I said half a crop is better than none.) They are going to take a trip to Montana to visit old friends. Tim said he's not bothered with his production, he would have more time to travel and also wouldn't be out of pickers' pay. Better luck next year, says Lil' Eve. But I gulp as I look at our green numbers dried out on the vine. Grrr!

I noted a look of brightness in the drug store the other day. Our Edna Pete is back an mighty nice to have her on the job again. Mr. B. and Edna keep the cosmetics rolling.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Jess Hite by all his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Chandler an two children have left for Bozeman, Montana. Mr. Chandler was Ag teacher in Sandy high school and will go back to teacher's college in Montana (never too old to learn is his adage). He's the kind who makes for good teaching.

After being in the hospital for several days, Jeff Namhie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Namhie, is home and in the best of health after double pneumonia. You wouldn't have known Jeff had been sick though—he was sitting on the porch shooting Indians by the dozens.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Edwards have company for awhile their daughter, her husband an son—Mr. and Mrs. Del Bradford and Lorin (better known as Punkin). They are from Vancouver and plan on making their home in Sandy. Welcome to all of the Bradfords.

MARMOT...

Dinner guests last Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ten Eyck were Mr. and Mrs. C. Rohde and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sulzbach. Later in the week Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Pierce, of Portland were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have traveled extensively, paying particular attention to historical places as he is an avid student of history. Describing a bull fight he attended in Mexico he remarked that it was a brutal exhibition and the more gory it was the more the audience enjoyed it. He said he hadn't a doubt if the ancient games of Rome where gladiators fought to the death were revived there would be plenty of spectators to fill the bleachers. Mrs. Pierce was a classmate of Mrs. Ten Eyck's at OCE.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sulzbach entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Howeller of Sandy last Sunday at an outdoor barbecue on their patio overlooking big Sandy Canyon with Mt. Hood in the distance.
