Clear Vision of Road Ahead Necessary

The man who is sure to go places has a clear vision of the road ahead and this principal applies to safe winter driving too, says Edward J. Warmoth, executive secretary of the Oregon Traffic Safety Commission. "No matter how stormy the weather he faces, the defensive-minded driver has a pretty good chance of reaching his destination because he has the tools to do the job," he explained. The "tools" include windshield wiper blades that remove sleet or snow, a defroster that keeps the windshield from fogging inside, and headlights that show the way ahead clearly under darkest conditions.

"The wise driver," Warmoth said, "also makes certain that he has a pair of reinforced tire chains in the trunk and that he uses them as soon as conditions warrant."

Warmoth said that during the first six months of this year, more than 4,000 Oregon accidents occurred on snowy or icy roads, a good indication that at least some people either didn't have or didn't use the right tools for safe winter driving.

What Is It?

What Is It Called?

What does it do?

THESE ARE THE QUESTIONS ASKED BY GRESHAM ELECTRIC WHEN WE SAW THIS MACHINE!

Let's go back to Dec. 13, 1961 when Gresham Electric was called to the Calvert Machine Works in Boring, Oregon.

GRESHAM ELECTRIC was asked to wire and test a Completely Automatic Console to operate a 100% Automatic Line Bar. This machine can process hardwood lumber at a fantastic rate of speed. It is being built in Oregon by engineers, technicians, and men who know, for an east coast hardwood mill.
