

Perkins-France Vows Spoken in Portland

Susan Jane France, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert France of Medford became the bride of Gerald K. Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Perkins, Rt. 1, Box 1130, Sandy, at a ceremony in the First Methodist church in Portland June 9 with Rev. Paul E. Peterson and Dr. Laurence Nye officiating at 2 p.m. in the afternoon.

The bride wore a gown of nylon organza over satin. Maid of honor was Susan Leffler in ice blue satin. Karen Wilson and Joe Wilson were junior attendants and Russ France was candlelighter.

Larry Perkins was best man for his brother and Gerald Green and Willard Lilly served as ushers.

A home reception was held at Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson's, Portland, in an outside patio atmosphere.

Mothers of bride and groom wore pink brocade and lace afternoon dresses with matching shoes and bags.

The bride will graduate in X-ray technology from U. of Oregon medical school in Portland the last of June and the groom is with Sandy Truck Line. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins are making their home in Sandy.

Scout Troop Plans Camping

Local Navy Man Arrives in Port

Lawrence A. Daugherty, electronics technician second class, husband of Mrs. Judy M. Daugherty, Boring, a crew member of the USS Shields (DD 396) has invited friends and residents of this area to visit his and other ships of the 1962 Rose Festival fleet during their stay in Portland.

During the week of Aug. 5-11 Sandy Boy Scout Troop 248 will attend Camp Baldwin on the Baldwin Reservation east of Mt. Hood.

Camp Baldwin has been rebuilt at a new location and will be in tip-top shape. Fishing, hiking, horseback riding and aquatic sports will be featured. Instruction will also be given in a broad area of scouting skills.

Any boy, 11 years or older, not now a member of the scouts who is interested, is invited to contact the scoutmaster, Capt. I. S. "Jim" Hartman, as soon as possible in order to be eligible to attend camp.

Last summer Troop 248 attended Camp Clark in southeast Oregon and, in addition to advancing in scouting skills and enjoying every moment of the wonderful week, distinguished themselves by winning several of the coveted awards for outstanding camping abilities.

Letter to the Editor--- Lige Coalman Recalls Lusty History Of Sandy, Mountain, and Its Paper

To The Editor:

It was very interesting to read the article in the Post of May 24 relative to the early career of the Post. I'd like to add my six bits worth to the subject of how we Sandyites tried to let the world know that here was an East Clackamas County spot on the map of the Old Webfoot State at the last decade of the 19th century.

In Oregon City the two political parties were represented to-wit: The Oregon City Courier was the mouth piece of the Democratic party and the Oregon City Enterprise did the honors for the black Republicans as they were dubbed in those days.

East Clackamas County included Kelso, Sandy Ridge, Bull Run, Sandy, Firwood, Welches and Government Camp.

The news gatherer for the Courier was a homeopathic pill peddler by the name of Dr. Ingraham who lived in a little log cabin on Whiskey Creek just east of Cherryville. He was a circuit riding Doctor. He wrote under the title of the Wildcatter.

Adolph Aschoff of Marmot, the Enterprise correspondent for the Enterprise, signed his column The Marmot Whistler. Both of these contributors were good news mongers, both had their peculiar brand of humor. We always looked forward to reading their columns.

In 1907 a man by the name of Nye came to Sandy, solicited the countryside for subscriptions. He succeeded in signing up 125 patrons. His first edition was struck off on an old hand press. It was a 4 page, 6 column to a page sheet, called the Sandy News. He had two rooms rented at the Wolf Hotel in which he did his editing and printing. Saturday nights he would tend bar in the George Wolf saloon where he picked up a lot of his news material.

In 1908 Otto Meinig put up a building to house a Saturday night movie show house. He added a lean-to shed on the back which was occupied jointly by Nye with his hand press and Marshall Davis, our local photographer. Nye put in an old cylinder press, enlarged his paper to 8 pages, drummed up quite a bit of advertising and most people were happy to have a local paper. And so it has gone these past 50 years.

At times the paper was printed in Gresham, then back to Sandy. There were a few years with no paper at all. For the past 30 years it has been fairly constant. Whenever there has been a Sandy paper I've been a subscriber.

It's one means of keeping track of the doings of my old home town. At present I am writing an autobiography of my comings and goings which I hope to have published by the end of the year.

Best of Luck for the future,

Lige Coalman
2595 Dutton Avenue
Santa Rosa, Calif.

Editor's Note: The Post is indebted to reader Coalman for this lusty insight into history. Any other old-timers are invited to send in their six bits' worth too, about what's gone before.

And we'll surely be looking forward to Mountain Man Coalman's book. We wonder if the folks in Santa Rosa know what a full life Coalman has led, and what a respected fellow he is every place within view of Mt. Hood.

Bina Perret Hosts Sandy Hi Alumni

A number of Sandy high school graduates from the classes of 1926, '27 and '28 spent a pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. Bina Perret recently. Honored guest was Mrs. Alta DeShazier Craft of Kahului, Maui, Hawaii. Others present were Mrs. Lewis Hall, who was Sandy high school's home economics teacher, Mrs. Marie Schwartz and Howard Berger, Sandy, and Mrs. Velma Henson Schram, Mrs. Dorothy Nelson Schram, Mrs. Frieda Dohberfuhl Fromke and Mrs. Ella Schwartz Joost, Portland.

Boring Guernsey Makes High Record

A registered Guernsey cow, Wandamere Vikings Lula, owned by M. C. Fleming, Boring, has completed an official HIR production record, according to the American Guernsey Cattle club here at Peterborough, N.H.

This record was for 12,400 pounds of milk and 688 pounds of fat. "Lula," was a junior two year-old, and was milked two times daily for 365 days while, on test.

This official production record was supervised by OSU.

CONFIRMATION TOLD
Dinner guests at the Emil Reich home on Sunday, June 10, were the Erhard and Reuben Ulrich families, Will Carrow, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wewer, Cathy Valberg and Rev. and Mrs. Luedtke. The occasion was Debbie Reich's confirmation at Emanuel Lutheran church the same Sunday.

Last Monday my daughter Vickie celebrated her 10th birthday by having some girl friends in for the day. Most of the day was spent playing with Barbie dolls. Those girls who enjoyed the day and festivities were Julie Schneider, Loretta and Loris Townsend, Shirley Searls, Charlotte Hames.

That evening Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dove, Mr. and Mrs. John Rutledge and Ricky and Doug and Susan Ellason came and enjoyed birthday cake with her. Miss Julie Schneider celebrated her birthday Wednesday by having some girls in for a birthday party also.

Mrs. Dorothy Townsend was the guest of her family for her birthday. She was taken out for dinner, and on the way they stopped off to wish my husband Art, her brother, a happy birthday. We couldn't get Art to go anywhere. That's the way it goes with these old farmers.

Last Thursday I attended a little league game at Parkrose. I took a load of kids to it. Why is it that the parents who have children in these little league games are never around to help take them to the games out of town? I have no one in the little league but am just interested in the games.

It was the same thing when I used to work in Girl Scouts. When will parents wake up and find that other parents are doing for their children what they should be doing? I won't say that all parents are like this, but the very parents who can never take a car to the games are the very parents who will phone up the coaches and crab because their Johnny doesn't get to play every inning or play the position that they think he should play. Wake up, parents!

Last Friday there was a housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Bud O'Kell on Lusted road. They have a beautiful new home and all their friends were on hand to warm it up. This was a complete surprise to the O'Kells. Those attending were Donna Farmer, Barbara Johnson, Lee Freeman, Margaret Hartshorn, Edna Haneberg, Marje Kitchen, Bonnie Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Haselwander, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Schiels, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Little, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Schoepert, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conrey, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur

Nell's Notes

By NELL HOWE
Hood-Land Reporter

Took my one and only son and Vern Mann down to the recruiting station Monday morning to depart for San Diego. At this writing, I presume that they left all OK and arrived in the same manner.

Seeing as how my son has a birthday next week I am reasonably sure of getting one letter so that I will have his address in order to send him a present. He's very dependable about those details. Awfully quiet around the homestead. Even the cat seems a little lost.

Vi Dunham in the Emanuel hospital for a few days. Hope she is home by now and feeling much improved.

Our deepest sympathy to Jane and Bob McMahan and family at the loss of their daughter, Signe.

Alma and Jim Relek are the parents of a baby boy, Kent Edward. We had just about given up on Alma - thought maybe she was just putting on a few pounds.

The Rose Festival made its finale without my cheering this year. Don't know how they managed but I hope to be in their cheering next year.

Sure do love a parade, especially the marching units and the Scotch Highlanders. Must run in the family. Grandma is as bad or worse than I am. Have to hold on to her coat-tails to keep her from taking off down the street with them. Fun though.

From the daily report the lakes are gradually getting open for the campers and fishermen. Lakes open in or about our area are: Rock Creek Reservoir, Clear, Frog, Clackamas, Timothy, Lost, Harriet, Trillium, Mud, Mirror lakes.

So very sorry to hear of the passing of Jack Clark. Jack has been on the mountain for several years, and has been in the rest home in Sandy for the past several weeks.

Marlene Bennett was hostess for a joint baby shower for Joyce Bowman and Cindy Connors. Instead of everyone bringing small gifts all the guests went together and gave Joyce a high chair and Cindy a play pen. Refreshments were served.

My daughter came out from the big city to attend and told everyone to have another shower soon so she could come back to the mountains. I'm afraid they aren't city dwellers - they miss their country air.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wells and family vacationed last week. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Albaugh and four daughters from Seattle accompanied them on a weekend fishing and rock hunting trip at Madras.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cuddeback (Mrs. Wells' sister), their son and a friend, all of Caldwell, Idaho, visited the Wells family.

Former neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hanks of Estacada spent an evening with the Wells.

Slim Fullerton is recovering from a painful foot injury. The Henry O'Nells of Portland visited their parents, the Fullertons.

Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton attended the wedding of their niece, Eleanor Fullerton, in Longview, Wash.

Joe Laughlin is with the Fullertons again as his father, Marshall Laughlin, is still in the hospital. The Ted Laughlins of Wamic and Mrs. Fullerton visited their brother in the hospital.

Granddaughter Visits Lester Workinger and his mother, Mrs. Esther Workinger, brought little Miss Natalie Campbell to spend a week with the Lloyd Kincaid girls. Grandma Workinger really counted in the contest at Dover Sunday school. She has eight grandchildren in attendance.

Pat Kincaid and Bonnie Workinger had a Tupperware party at the R. Horttor's Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Babb of Myrtle Creek and Mr. and Mrs. David Horttor and children of Salem and John Dyal were guests of the R. Horttor family Sunday.
