DOVER DOINGS

As you might guess from the following items, someone has stayed close to home. (Me).
 All our family except the Harvey Horttors came home for Christmas, so we had 21 places at dinner; people everywhere. It's a good thing Dad has a big workshop and that it was a nice day for trying out a new football.

 Present were the D. A. Workingers from down the road, the J. C. Pelton family from Portland, David Horttors from Salem, Fern, home from Northwest college at Kirkland, Wash. and John Dyal.
 Mr. and Mrs. George Rambo and sons, Pat and Joe and Mrs. Faith Craft spent Christmas Eve with friends out Oregon City way and had Christmas dinner with George's mother in Gladstone.

Reminders Due
 Car owners whose licenses expire in January will be receiving a reminder to renew their license plates, according to the Oregon Department of Motor Vehicles. Reminders should be used in renewing at field offices or by mail directly with the Salem office of the department. Instructions for using the form are printed on the reverse side of the form.

Kiddies See Lights
 The Lloyd Kincaides and the Workingers toured some of the beauty spots of Portland one evening including Starkwood, Peacock Lane and Candy Cane Lane. The children really enjoyed the decorations.
 Mrs. Emma Walker and daughter Sandra of Whittier, Calif., visited the R. Horttors for an hour or so. They spent Christmas with the Steve Mannings in Alaska.

Glenn Horttor visited his daughter Dorothy and family, the Adrian Franklins, in eastern Oregon.

Several young people from Dover church attended a retreat at Crestview on the Columbia, Debby and Bill Quimby, Carol and Darlene Slater, Shirley Ward, Sue Hazelett and Lee Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunch had their daughter and family, the Walches from Washington, home for Christmas.

Sandy Fire Chief Lyle Seaman was recently awarded a medal for his service to the Red Cross. The Oregon Trail Chapter of the Red Cross presented Seaman with the medal, a 16-year pin and a certificate of award at a special luncheon at the PGE auditorium in Portland. The award was given Seaman for his work in teaching first aid and First Aid Safety.
