More About Hospital

He said nothing could be done with the hospital association's funds until such time as the association could call a general meeting of the board members and the people who donated money during the last campaign.

"The agreement during the last campaign stipulated that, should donations accepted during this time not be used for the purpose stated, the donors would vote on disposition of this money," Barker said.
