Beyond Our Horizon

By CAPT. I. S. HARTMAN, former planning officer, staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

During the past week we have had two attempted coups in Iraq. The second one has apparently succeeded. Indications are that its leaders are pro-Nasser. With Syria seasonally wavering between independence and Pan Arabism, President Nasser has good reason to hope for an expansion of his United Arab Republic.

Any consolidation of Nasser's power will further aggravate their relationship with Israel, the United States and other powers. Any disruption of the status quo is bound to create problems and do damage to the interests of other nations, but it is hard to see how eventual consolidation of the Arab states will fail to benefit them and, in the long run, be beneficial to the stability of the world as a whole.

Turning from the Middle East, another area almost as difficult to generalize is the East Indies. Formerly dominated by the British and Dutch, it is now the primary preserve of President Sukarno of Indonesia. The Republic of Malaysia, recently formed, and the Philippines share Indonesia's domination of the area.

President Sukarno has very effectively played the United States off against Russia and received an enormous amount of material aid and political support from both. The Indonesians as individuals have probably gained nothing and remain in one of the most hopeless positions of any peoples in the world, this despite the region's enormous mineral wealth.

The island of Java comprises one-fifth of the area of Indonesia, but has over half of the population. There are over 1000 people per square mile and 55,000,000 people altogether on Java, whose area is only slightly over half that of Oregon.

Indonesia is made up of many, many races and they speak many languages. About 80 per cent of the people were engaged in agriculture, with rice the primary diet. Except for the reduction of ores and refining of oil, there is no heavy industry as we know it. The Dutch were credited by many for a wonderful colonizing effort in the Indies. Actually they did no colonizing. They were exploiting the raw materials of the area, providing a stable government and good administration. To the average Dutchman, life in the Indies was a tour of duty in a hot, sticky climate. After two or three years, most were eager to return to Holland.

Social Security

QUESTION: I thought that only women could start their social security benefits at age 62. Is this correct?

ANSWER: No. Since the 1961 Amendments to the Social Security Act, men as well as women can begin receiving benefits at age 62. However, the amount of your monthly benefit is permanently reduced if you take your payments before age 65--to take account of the longer period over which you will be collecting them.

QUESTION: I work as a domestic, but I am over 65 and receiving my social security checks each month. Should my employer take out for social security as long as I don't earn over $1200 a year?

ANSWER: A person's age or the fact that she is receiving social security payments does not affect the payment of social security tax. As long as you earn $50 or more in a calendar quarter doing domestic work for a single employer, your employer is required to deduct and pay social security tax. Of course, if you earn over $1200 per year while receiving social security payments, it will affect the amount of these payments and must be reported to the Social Security Administration. This does not affect the deductions made from your pay for social security tax, however.

QUESTION: I plan to visit my sister for three months and wonder if I can have my social security checks sent to her address while I am there?

ANSWER: Yes. Notify your social security office in writing of your new address and your check will be forwarded to your sister's home. When you return home, you should fill out another change of address card so your check can be sent to your regular address.

College-Aid Plan Helps Army Meet Critical Need for Nurses

Advantages of nursing career and service in Army Nurses Corps are explained to Lorelee Washburn, Gresham high school sophomore, by Capt. Angelina Hennek, nurse Corps recruiter who visited Gresham last week.

This means a three-year hitch for two years of aid and a two-year enlistment in exchange for a single year's help. "Of course the women (and men, too, since last spring) who sign up for the program must meet fairly rigid qualifications as they'll be Army officers upon graduation," she added.

"The authorized strength of the Army Nurse Corps is 5500 nurses and we are now down to about 3300," Capt. Hennek pointed out. "So you can see how much we need nurses."

On her one-day visit to Gresham, the career nurse (she's been in the service eight years) kept to a busy schedule. She had a long lunch with the nurses and doctors of the Gresham General Hospital staff, spoke to girls at Marycrest high school in Parkrose and talked to several local girls about the college-aid plan.

Capt. Hennek, like many of the nurses who join the service, has enjoyed her tours of duty overseas--"Korea and elsewhere in the Far East, so far." She's hoping she'll soon receive traveling orders to the most prized overseas post--Europe.

Schools are open and the Portland Traffic Safety Commission reminds you that 20 miles per hour is the recommended maximum safe speed through school zones. Protect yourself and our children by obeying this law. At the comparatively slow speed of 20 miles per hour, it takes approximately 47 feet to stop in an emergency.

Mrs. Rose Brook died in a nursing home in Portland, Nov. 12. She and her husband, the late Ed Brook came to this area in 1907. They purchased 20 acres of land on the Hauglum road, and raised their family. The oldest son, Jerome, owned the place after his father's passing. They built a home on property where Mrs. Brooks and youngest son Albert lived for a number of years, moving to Portland later.

Brook now lives on the place, making three generations having lived in the same place. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkenson is having Mr. Wilkenson's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilkenson of Depoe Bay, also their daughter Helen of Portland, as dinner guests on Sunday.

About 97 per cent of U. S. farms now have electric power, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

LETTER BOX

To The Editor:

Thanksgiving time once again, and a time for counting our blessings. Most of us take for granted the blessings of sound minds and bodies, but not all people are so blessed.

Throughout our northwest area there are men and women with withered limbs, sightless eyes, deaf ears, faulty hearts and limited mental skill who have not asked for their disabilities but have them anyhow.

There but for the grace of God go we . . . and we can all be thankful for such a grace that makes us whole.

On this basis we can understand, too, that the handicapped men and women who learn and earn at Goodwill Industries are thankful to the community which makes possible the program of jobs and training from which they benefit.

In this Thanksgiving season, these deserving people wish to express their appreciation to the public whose individual donations of materials and money make possible their achieving normal lives despite their disabilities.

Through the columns of this newspaper, they say: Thank you - - - thanks for giving to Goodwill.

Farm Bureau Members Win State Awards

Multnomah County Farm Bureau members who attended the state convention at Salem last week, came home with several awards. Mrs. John Siedl, Troutdale, was presented with the state president's top award for outstanding contribution on the education program.

Mrs. James Bushue, Boring, received a plaque for the best county newsletter; a gold plated tray was awarded to Mrs. LeRoy McNutt, Gresham, for the best woman's program of the year, and past president, William Elmer, Troutdale, was presented a check for membership growth.

Elmer also was presented a watch for achieving the insurance selling quota and a past president pin.

The slate of new state officers for 1964-65 are: Harold Beach, Hermiston, president; Mrs. Blaine Johnson, Glendale, women chairman; and Mrs. Victor Thompson, Gresham, vice chairman.

Attending the convention were: Joe Casale, William Elmer, Vern Wasson, Grant Sturm, Henry Karo, Mel Lamm, and Mrs. Oscar Brue. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moulton, Mr. and Mrs. John Siedl, and Mr. and Mrs. William Hardin attended.

State Reps. Don McBain, Ross Morgan and their wives were guest at the convention banquet.

Twenty-three million Americans--four of every ten workers--are part of our agricultural production. Nearly 7 million work on farms, while 16 million either market farm output or supply farmers with the tools and materials used in production.

CHEVROLET
Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?

Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheel-bases. Best riding truck, by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have double-wall construction. Chevrolet Fleetside--best for all-around use.

STEPSIDE. Has flat interior body walls and convenient side steps between cab and rear fenders. Comes in same two sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size. Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payloads. Standard engine is 230-cu.-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283 V8 is available at extra cost.

RAMPside. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and frame-floor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp air-cooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it--the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish: bucket seats, air conditioning, 4-speed transmission, power brakes are some of its extra-cost options.
