Parents Feted On Anniversary

Dodd of Clackamas; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Two sisters also survive, Mrs. Lillian Waite and Mrs. Marion Amundson of Spokane.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Carroll Funeral Home. Burial will be today (Thursday) at Fairmount Cemetery in Spokane.

At the colorful and well presented fashion show staged last week by Brewster's Family Store, Grace Lamb, Sandy, was a winner of one of many door prizes. Lucky Grace held winning ticket on a radio, here being presented to her by Ginny Brewster, who acted as ringmaster, M.C., and general factotum for the parade of styles. Shown wearing some of the exciting new fall fashions are Leslie Pullen, Coleen Pullen, Ruth Berg and Connie Berger. Clowning it up in the men's styles are models Deanne Wesselink, Ave Brewster. Dancers were Bill and Nita May Conray, sponsors of local Ed Cheney dance classes. Use of the theater for the show was donated by owner Chuck Stitt and all proceeds were donated to local clubs for community betterment. (Post photos)

Pioneer Days

By Lillian Ten Eyck

Our German shepherd awoke us the other night with frantic barking and yelpings. Friend husband rushed out in his night shirt to come to the "aid of the party" meaning the shepherd. He was unable to help until he separated the dog from his enemy which proved to be a large rodent with a short tail looking something like a Marmot. The next morning there were three others lying dead beside the one that hubby had clubbed to death. No harm done except to a flower bed where the first encounter took place.

Not so many years ago one of the earliest pioneers living on this ridge was a Scotchman named Bob Alexander. He used to tell this story. "One time I remember I had three or four good sized shoats weighin' around one hundred sixty pounds apiece. Wal, by Gad, one night after I'd gone to bed, I heard them makin' the gol darnest fuss. I know'd somethin' was after 'em so out I run in my shirt tail. It was moonlight and in the pen with them poor haws I seen a pack of slamm'n' big timber wolves. By gad, I didn't stay around long but ran back in my shack and got my old double barreled shotgun. I fired both barrels toward the pig pen but didn't go out to see if I had hit anything. The next day I hunted and hunted, but all I ever found of them haws was a little piece of entrails 'bout six inches long."
