Next week is National School Lunch Week, but these hungry youngsters waiting to be served at Cottrell school don't need to be told school lunches are good... they know it from experience. Children are second and third graders from Miss Olsen's room. (Post photo)

News of FIRWOOD Extension Unit

BY GRACE LAMB

The Firwood Extension meets next week on Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the Sandy Woman's Club Hall. The lesson for this meeting will be "Food Spoilage." Each person is to bring her own place setting and cup. The hostesses will serve salad or dessert.

There will also be a produce auction. Anyone having extra fruit, vegetables etc., bring them, those who don't, bring money. Everything goes cheap and it's garden fresh. The money made from this auction will go to pay for the coffee pot being used at all unit meetings and also for the knitting classes.

Knitting started Oct. 7 and will continue once a week throughout the year, except on regular unit meetings. All are welcome to come and join us.

Here are a couple of things found in the extension bulletin: I thought you might enjoy -- "Remember the steam kettle; tho up to its neck in hot water, it continues to sing", and "Recipe for having food taste like mother used to make; walk five miles before dinner."

Nell's Notes

By NELL HOWE
Hood-Land Reporter

The Zig Zag Post Office won't seem the same without Gladys Perkins at the window. Last Wednesday was her last day. After 32 years she hated to leave. She misses it. Says it was her baby. Our best to Catherine Anderson, who will be the new postmaster.

Joyce Bowman had a baby shower for Mary Weseman, (McKenzie). The beautiful cake was made and decorated by Boo Gaulke. Delicious, as always. Many wonderful gifts and a lovely time had by all. Finally got to go spend an afternoon with my mother. She was fine and we had a ball as always. She's just as busy as ever, and looking wonderful.

We have been trying to figure out why deer hunters would need 14 foot ladders. So far have seen three of them. Decided they were after tall deer.

Had a few minutes to drop in on Jennie Welch. Found her coming along fine. Looks real good, but having trouble keeping from doing too much. Jennie is not used to being restricted in her efforts, and she is not enjoying it at all. Just likes to be busy.
