Nell's Notes
By NELL HOWE Hood-Land Reporter

I hope everyone has received some pleasure from all the snow. Dave heard, over the radio, that the average shovelful of snow weighs 9 pounds. So by figuring, square footage, depth of snow, and all those things, he came up with the fact, that he had shoveled 15,980 some odd pounds of snow. And he swore that his snow weighed more than 9 lbs, a shovel. Made him feel much better about the blisters he had on both hands. It doesn't seem to be thawing very fast, so imagine it will be around for a spell.

The trailer court, across from me, suffered quite a bit of damage due to the snow. Just about every awning in the area, was caved in by the snow. There's a lot of weight in our snow, and it doesn't take much to break down, a not too heavy cover.

Received another card from the Gudegs'. They are now back at Mazatlan, in Mexico, and say it is warm and sunny, and they are having a wonderful time. They should be back around the middle of January. Should be a great change for them. They left before the snow started, so don't really appreciate what they are coming back to.

Last Monday, Mert and Emma Wheeler, had to drive Jo Drips to Salem to the hospital. She had a bad case of Bronchial Pneumonia. Naturally, she wished to go to her son, and as he is a doctor in Salem, that is where they took her. She is now out of the hospital, but is staying there until Dr. Bill gives her the word go, before coming home. We hope she is all well, and able to come home very soon.

Jennie Welch finally made it back home, after being marooned at the coast for a spell, and then in the city until the weather cleared some out here. We are glad she is home.

Went up to Rhododendron to look in on Jimmy Henry's new bar at the Alpine Hut. It is small but so very nice. Not the kind of a bar you plan to spend the day at, but for the convenience of his dinner customers, and a small but elegant bar it is.

What with having no phone for a couple of weeks, I really do not know what is going on. The one day I had a phone, heard that Mrs. Brown, on the Old Country Club Road, had had a stroke, and the lack of phones made it very difficult for them. Mr. Brown had to wade through the snow to find a phone to call the ambulance, and then waited such a long time, and it didn't come, that he waded out again and placed a call for the Oregon City Ambulance. They both arrived within a minute of each other. The Mt. Hood Ambulance got stuck, and could only get within 100 feet of the house, so they had to carry Mrs. Brown through the snow. Then Jack Collier had to push them out so that both ambulances could get on their way. Don't know what held things up, but it took the ambulance 3 hours to get there, and that was much too long.

Armin Buholzer hurt his back while skiing, so if you see him walking around like a little old man, it is just because he doesn't straighten up too well. He picked a bad time, because Waltraud doesn't like to shovel snow that well, and he had lots of it.

March of Dimes Campaign Launched

Clackamas county chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes launched its annual campaign Tuesday night in a special called meeting at the courthouse, with chairman J. H. Van Winkle presiding.

A large number of contributions have been received from private citizens and businesses despite envelopes going into the mails just last weekend, according to treasurer Shelton Lough Jr.

Members of the group voted to participate in the Miss Universe contest to be held later in the year with proceeds to go to the March of Dimes. Several counties of the state have already signed their approval. The event will be held at Glen Eden Beach on the coast. Proceeds will be divided equally among participating counties.

The annual March of Dimes tea will be held Jan. 28, during the afternoon, starting at 1 p.m., at the Grace Community Congregational church at Jennings Lodge. A program is planned with members of the Grace Guild, Friendship Club, Garden Club and the Jennings Lodge PTA participating.
