

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Mrs. Schmitz's Room: We have two sweet potatoes in our room that are growing very nice vines.

Debra Haselwander brought a piece of wood to school that had been eaten by a large worm. The worm was large and golden colored.

Each student in our room has picked a state for special work in Social Studies. We will gather information, pictures, and make maps of this state.

We are starting to do some ceramics for our Mother's Day gifts.

We have taken in $260.35 in Savings Stamps in our room so far this year. We have three $50 bonds and three $25 bonds.

Mr. Callaghan's science room became a maternity ward last week when Kathy Harrison's hamster gave birth to five little ones. There is also a new baby in Miss Proett's room, one of the duck eggs having hatched.

Two of our eighth graders, Brian Boothby and Steve Christensen, are in the high school dance band. We think they look quite "neat" in their white dinner jackets.

The fourth graders report a good time on their skating party last Friday. There was one minor mishap: Kent Sams got his head cut on a man's teeth when he, Kent, fell down in front of him. The man probably didn't consider it minor for he got a broken tooth. The boys' bus broke down on the way home and had to be towed in by the other one, but that was more fun than inconvenience, some thought.

MEAT LEFTOVERS IN SALAD

As warm weather approaches, food thoughts turn to crisp, cool salads. As a quick trick for making julienne-style meat pieces for salads, cut through several slices of meat at one time.

"Making the Sandy Scene"

"In Spain, we see American movies and T.V. shows, and we think that America is full of gangsters, cowboys, and horses that talk, which is not exactly the right impression! I came over to see what America is really like. I was quite expecting to see lots of gangsters, people shooting each other in the streets, and the F.B.I. roaming everywhere. Instead I find that you have your troubles, you work, and you have your lives just like people everywhere else. I am going back to Spain, and I will tell them just what you really are like." This comment was made by one of the A.F.S. sponsored foreign students last Sat. evening at the A.F.S. Spaghetti Dinner at Sandy High School.

One couldn't help but gain a better understanding of our guests visiting us from their native lands, and realize likewise that they were very like people living here. Thus another annual A.F.S. Fund Raising Drive came to a successful finish, with tables having to be hurriedly set up to accommodate the additional diners.

The program, consisting principally of contributions made by the visiting students-- introduced by our own Chon Saekoh and Hilde Olds, had an international flavor. A song from Costa Rica, two songs from the hit parade in Brazil, lively piano music through talent from Germany. The student from Greece presented an amusing report of her adjustment to life here and a lovely folk song from her own country, which was followed by a poetic song from Thailand. The student from Uganda mentioned the adjustments made to food eaten here--on his arrival in New York he was met by a representative of A.F.S. who cordially suggested they "go somewhere for hot dogs and cokes". Thinking "hot dogs" were our household pets cooked and served hot, the students from Uganda politely declined the offer, mumbling something about "not being too hungry." Their first night here was a restless one--"we had comfortable beds, but we didn't sleep too well--we were hungry!" Next day they gathered with other A.F.S. students from around the globe, to ascertain travel plans to their ultimate destinations. Refreshments were served, and, you guessed it, the menu was hot dogs and cokes. "All the other students started eating and seemed to be enjoying the food, when they noticed that all of us from Uganda weren't eating. They wondered what is wrong? One of our students finally told them: 'At home, we don't eat dogs. If you can find us anything to eat except dogs, we would like it -- we are very hungry!'" The program continued with views from Italy, a folk dance from Venezuela and ended with our own Chon doing a graceful dance of Thailand.

Before the evening ended Ralph Hames mentioned that the Interclass Competition activities at the School had raised $640.46 for the A.F.S. Fund--the Freshman class winning with contributions of $300. Seems a lot of freshmen went without lunch on Friday, having contributed their lunch money to the AFS fund!

Howard Berger thanked those who had purchased tickets for the dinner, remarking: "This is a little bit better than putting money in bullets and shooting them at each other!"... and to this, we say Amen!

Birthday and Anniversary celebrations were popular in Sandy last weekend.

Sunday was the 23rd wedding anniversary of Ray and Dee Watkins, and also the 22nd birthday of their son-in-law, Ronnie Long. Accordingly, the Watkins and the Longs, with other friends from Portland, "went out for dinner".

Kenneth and Joyce Burdick celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary on Saturday. Birthday cakes last Saturday went to Kathy Searls, Agnes Barker, Gary Major and Ernie Markwell.

Sunday birthdays celebrated included: Rita Sheppard, Larry Moody, Paul Gagner, Grace Lamb, Roxie Burns, Lynn Townsend and Cathy Boothby. Edna and Alfred Gunderson spent Sunday with Alan and Nancy Gunderson and their daughters: Debbie and Donna, seeing "Sound of Music". Three occasions were being recognized-- the Alfred Gundersons 28th wedding anniversary last Monday their son Alan's birthday the same day, and a belated Valentine treat for Debbie and Donna.

Visitors at the Ivan Barker home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Webber of Portland. The Webbers have lived in the same home for many years -- it was in their home on March 1, 1924, that Ivan and Agnes Barker were married. An interesting highlight of the visit was the snapshot brought by the Webbers, taken of the bride and groom some 42 years ago. Dan Barker was much amused at the 1924 hairdos of his parents. It was a day for remembering...

The previous weekend, the Barkers spent at Drain, Ore. Agnes Barker disclosed the main reasons for their family gathering "We always have a traditional reunion in February, since there are three family birthdays to celebrate -- my own on Feb. 26, the birthday of my niece, Judy Elmore, of Cottage Grove and the birthday of my niece's husband, Theodore Lachman, of Lake Oswego. There were 23 people attending the dinner at my sister Mrs. Pauline Brown's home.

Seen in Passing: A sign at the Trail Cafe -- "We have no quarrel with those who sell for less-- they know what their stuff is worth". Jerry McLain, a member of the folk-singing "Castman" playing a guitar made by his grandfather... Ginny Brewster attending merchandise shows... Dan Amstad with his sister, Sally, at O.C.E. in Monmouth last Sunday... Margaret Boothby mentioning the forthcoming "Capping Ceremonies" at nursing school in 3 weeks... Norma Pymale winning a $15. bottle of perfume at a Clairal Conference in Portland recently... An unusual restroom arrangement at R. S. Smith's Garage (a small door in front is labelled "Women"), the center of the large front garage door labelled "Men"!!... Mrs. H. A. Schneider home following a visit with her daughter in California... Chon Saekoh's datebook being filled with A.F.S. assemblies at local club meetings and homework... Dorothy Proett's 6th grade class successfully hatching one duck egg... Darlyle Dowell pumping gasoline... The Bucksbolls being called back for FOUR encores at Vancouver recently... Martha Drew busy baking a cake for A.F.S. which she sold to her mother before leaving for school next morning... Everyone, or very nearly everyone, gathered at Thriftway for the car drawing last Sat... Jeanne Duff, Juanita Anliker, Teri Martin, Dick Hane and Alan Gunderson celebrating birthdays last Monday... Harry and Anita Wade entered in the Sled Dog Races held at Bend last weekend... Melanie Steffi, Ralph Hames, Kay Metzger, Gail Maronay and Debbie Schneider all having one thing in common-- all were born on March 2... Dick Steffi mentioning Ralph Richardson's name was inadvertently omitted from list of donors to AFS dinner.

Frances Will is a Senior this year at U. of O. She will make a career of social work following graduation in June. I am looking forward to interesting reports of Helen Sulzbach's forthcoming trip to Europe. She will travel by plane to Yorkshire, England, the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Tom and Anne Sulzbach, where she is looking forward "to taking care of my 20-month old granddaughter Kim, during Anne's stay in hospital, and then welcoming my new grandchild home from hospital." Pete and Helen Sulzbach's son, Tom, is a chemical engineer in England. About the middle of April, her plans include "a leisurely tour of Denmark, Sweden, and other European countries before going to Greece to visit my son, John, a mining engineer with Kaiser." She will return to Sandy sometime in mid-summer.

The night before winning the TV given away by 3 Boys Market, Ethel Darnall had told the store clerks "If you don't draw my name for a prize pretty soon, I am going to quit putting these tickets in the box!" Next night when one of the employees called to tell her to come to the store as they had drawn the winners, she thought it was all a big joke and until she actually was shown the prize she won, she fully expected to be handed a big box with some small item (such as a lollipop, etc.) inside! -- There is a name for such people "Doubting Thomas" or "People from Missouri." "I...anyways, it was a happy and very surprised winner who carried the TV home!

At least now we know how to draw crowds in the City of Sandy -- follow Bob Williams' tried and true method and give something away free, but add the stipulation that winners must be present to accept prize. The crowds milling around on the parking lot and in the store at 3 p.m. Saturday was almost unbelievable. Just as unbelievable were the filled parking lots and cars lined up along both sides of the highway -- Ethel Darnall (living at the corner of 1st and Pleasant) planned to drive up, until her plans were altered by people with similar ideas. She drove as far as the north end of R. S. Smith's Shell Station and parked in their lot! I heard she returned to find an "unofficial" parking ticket on her car??!

Overheard in Thriftways: The sounds of cash registers ringing up last minute purchases sounding similar to gaming machines in Reno... Joe Crawford mentioning that he "had never seen anything like this" on viewing the crowd... General remarks: "At least now we know what draws crowds in Sandy"; "I saved my tickets until today, that way when I put them in they will be near the top!"; "Who was the first name drawn for the Rickshaw--Beatrice Strom, Strong or was it Swan?"; and shortly thereafter: "It didn't sound like Kay Metzger, did it!"; "Jean Remington is the lucky winner of the Rickshaw"; Jane Lauer winning the automobile on the first draw; "Well, guess I will have to buy potato chips now, since I didn't win the ones in the car!"

The Rowlands have received postcards of Disneyland, Grand Canyon and Carlsbad Caverns sent by their son, Bruce, along his bus trip around the U.S. The card from Carlsbad mentioned that Bruce felt pretty important as he had his own chauffeur -- he was the only passenger aboard the large Greyhound bus for many miles. News next week from New Orleans Mardi Gras--Bruce phoned last Friday night from St. Petersburg, Florida, when he mentioned that "time was flying by, but am enjoying the trip very much." The trip did not begin as scheduled -- Bruce and his friend, Cecilio (a steak cook at Bowman's, I understand) planned to leave Portland together, Bruce to begin his trip and his friend to return to Mexico for a visit with his

Nell's Notes

By NELL HOWE
Hood-Land Reporter

I know there must have been many things going on around these here parts, but I am afraid that I haven't been home long enough to find out about them.

Took mother back to the hospital on Wednesday, and from then on it has been into the hospital to see Walter and then on in to see mother and home sometime around dinner, if you eat a late dinner. Should have mother home by the time you read this. Walter not doing too well, and I try my best to get in to see them both every day, but did miss a couple in there someplace. I apologize for such a short column, but will try and have a better one next time. Mother wishes to thank all the wonderful people that are sending her cards, and goodies. She loves everyone of them and wishes she could write you all and thank you.

Walter Creighton passed away Monday morning. One more of our mountains' wonderful pioneers gone. There is no one going to miss him more than we are. Such a remarkable sense of humor, such a fabulous memory. Always we were going to write all his knowledge of this mountain down to be kept, but somehow just never got around to it. How I wish we had. There is so much to be told about him, but I just can't do it right now. Grief is no fun, and I will have to take up the subject some other time.
