Community College Funds At Stake in Voting Today

Funds to operate Mt. Hood Community College for the coming year will be at stake today (Thursday) in the annual budget election.

Polls will be open from 2-8 p.m. at the various high schools within the district. The college is seeking approval of a $496,376 special levy. This will mean roughly 2.9 mills per year in taxes or about $9 per $10,000 of assessed valuation.

The college district was created at a special election last June and since then, voters have approved an $87,310 levy for organizational purposes plus a $2,225,000 building levy spread over five years.

Thursday's vote, then, represents the first large operational levy.

It has drawn opposition in some quarters as too large, especially since the college has yet to open its doors. However, the college board and staff stoutly defend the levy as entirely reasonable under the circumstances.

"The levy is predicted on 750 students," a spokesman said, "the estimate given to us by the State Department of Education."

Voter Signup Deadline Near

Saturday is the deadline for registration for those who want to vote in the May 24 primary election.

The office of county clerk will be open evenings this week, and all day Saturday, April 23 for those who want to register.

Registrants must have lived in the state of Oregon six months prior to the election date, if they wish to register and vote.

"In fact, 750 students maybe an entirely conservative estimate but we had to pick some starting point and build from that. If, on the other hand, enrollment should fall below expectations--a most unlikely possibility--the money, of course, would not be spent and would reduce next year's levy."

The budget provides funds for 30 teachers in the general ed-should enrollment exceed the 750 estimate.

Other than President Dr. Earl Klapstein, all department heads and administrative personnel also will have teaching duties.

The college hopes to operate next year in temporary quarters at 148th and Halsy as well as in existing high school building throughout the area. A full-time campus will not be operational before 1968 at the earliest.

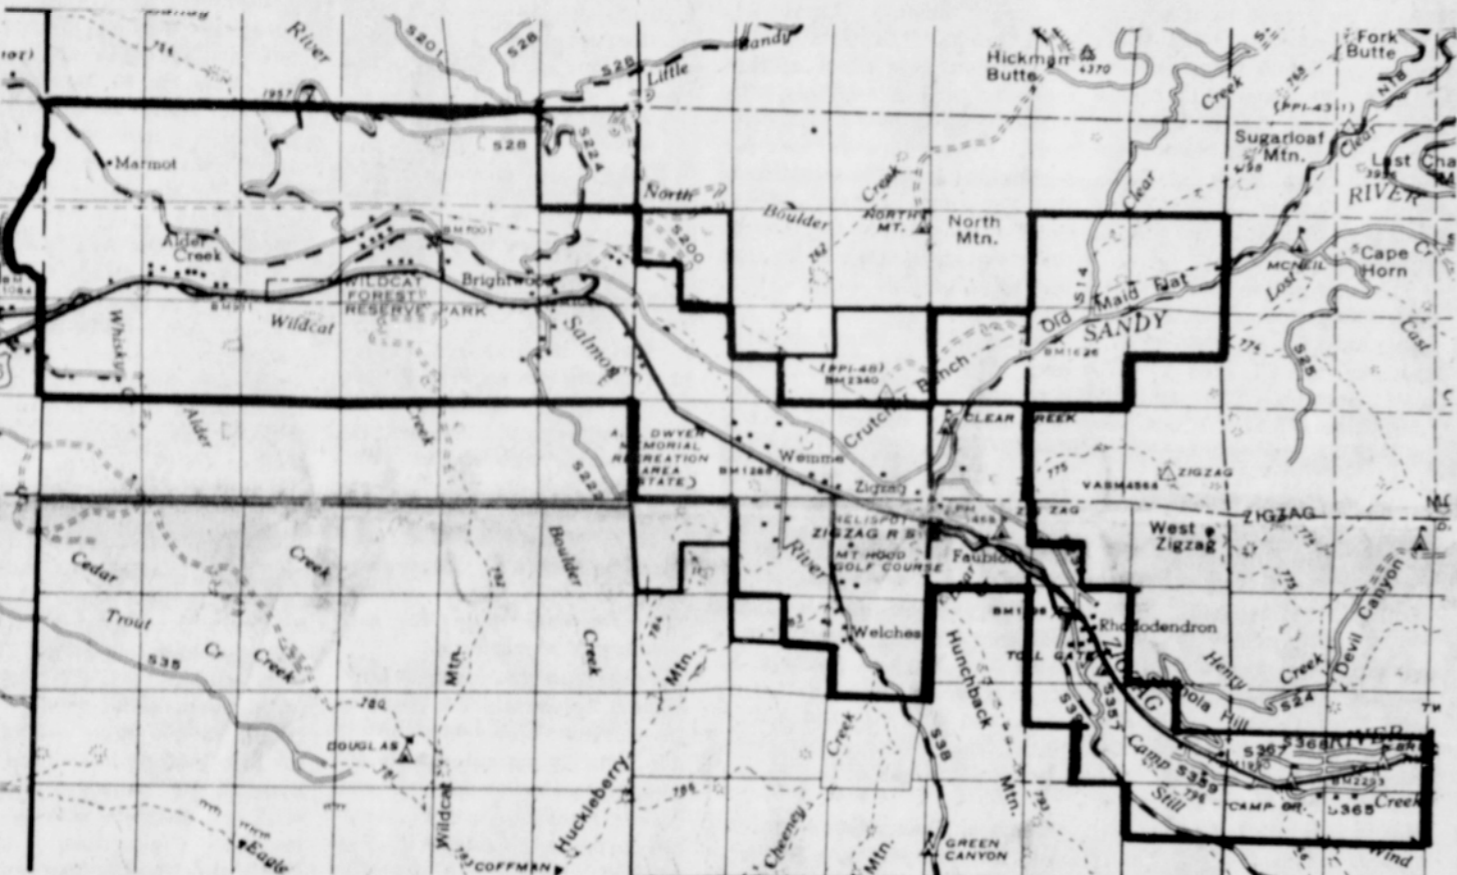

Welches PTA Invites Candidates

All ten school board candidates have been invited to attend the next Welches PTA meeting, be introduced and to share their views in an informal panel discussion with parents and interested members of the community.

Please plan to come and get acquainted with the candidates. Let's let them know how much we appreciate each of them volunteering his (their) time and effort to the Welches school.

The meeting will be Tuesday, April 26, 8 p.m., at the school.

The Welches budget and school board election will be held at the school on May 2.

Petitions Out For Hoodland RFPD

Petitions to the Clackamas county commissioners for the formation of a Rural Fire District in the Hoodland area are now being circulated. Two hundred signatures are required before the County Commissioners will consider the petition and call for a public hearing on this proposal. Only landowners and/or contract buyers can legally sign the petition.

Under the sponsorship of the Mt. Hood Lions Club, the R.F.D. committee hopes to be able to establish a fire district for the Hoodland residential area from Whiskey Creek to the base of Laurel Hills, a spokesman said.

Those interested in obtaining more information concerning the proposed fire district should contact the members of the Lions Club Committee; Bob Gilmore, Zigzag, Bill Steinbarger, Wemme; Milt Fox, Brightwood; Ed Cook, Brightwood; Roy Carothers, Brightwood; and Joe Woodie, Brightwood.

Demo Women to Hear Com. Nilsen

Labor Commissioner Norman O. Nilsen will speak to the Clackamas county Jane Jefferson club at their meeting on April 27 at noon at the West Linn Inn.

Nilsen, candidate for reelection, will speak on the functions of the labor bureau, sharing the program with Commissioner Stan Ely who will explain the three budget items.

Mrs. Lois Carpenter, Oswego, president of the Jane Jefferson club, stated that this is part of the club's program to "inform" the voting public of issues and candidates.

Rural Housing Loans Possible

The Rural Housing program of the Farmers Home Administration has been enlarged to make a larger number of small community and rural residents eligible for loans.

The program is being administered by Farmers Home Administration for Clackamas and Multnomah Counties at Oregon City. The new program permits loans to families to buy previously occupied homes in rural communities whose population is less than 5500 persons.

Top Sandy High Students Named

Sandy High School officials have announced the selection of two outstanding young women as valedictorian and salutatorian of the graduating class of 1966.

Named valedictorian for the June 2 graduation was Hilde Olds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Olds of Rt. 2, Boring. At the top of her class, she has maintained a 4.0 grade average in four years of high school.

Salutatorian is Kathy Welden, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard G. Welden of Rt. 3, Boring. Kathy ranks second in the senior class of 142 graduating students.

Hilde, who plans to attend either Mills or Stanford this fall, has been active in extra-curricular affairs and is a member of the National Honor Society, AFS Club, Pionaires, a Cappella Choir and the Student Council. Her other interests include sewing, reading, singing and walking.

Kathy has also been active in student affairs and is a member of the National Honor Society, the FTA club, and the Student Council and was in the senior class play. In her junior year she served as secretary of the student body. An avid horsewoman, she is a member of the 4-H Horse Club and says she is interested in almost everything, but admits that showing horses is her favorite activity. Kathy will enroll at the University of Oregon in the fall.

Chosen by the Sandy Business and Professional Women's Club as their April "Girl of the Month" is lovely Hilde Ann Olds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Olds of Boring.

Hilde, a senior at Sandy High School, has twin brothers, Jim and John, who are sophomores. President of the SUHS school of the National Honor Society, she was recently a delegate to the Society's convention in Portland. In addition to maintaining a 4.0 grade point average, Hilde is a member of the Pionaires, a Cappella Choir, Clackamas County Youth Council, Student Council and the AFS Club.

Named to participate in the Americans Abroad program, last summer Hilde spent three months in Lindenburg, Germany as the guest of the Karl Weber family and says the most important thing she learned in being a student abroad was "to appreciate my own country and the opportunities available here".

Her future plans include "work this summer and college in the fall."

BACKWARD OR FORWARD is the question in the mind of Mrs. Joyce Grockett, as she ponders the switch to daylight saving time. Of course it's relatively simple: if you're going to save daylight, you steal an hour on the clock. Thus, at midnight Sunday, April 24, it's not really midnight but 1 a.m. So, should you wish to be on time for church, Sunday school, or your game of golf, Sunday, April 24, set your clock one hour ahead, when you retire. You will then be keeping up with the balance of the states, on fast time. (Sandy Post Photo)

Items Asked for OMSI Auction

The auction at the Gresham fairgrounds for the Benefit of the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry, still needs donated items, according to Jack Roake, general chairman of the event.

Roake made the appeal to members of the Sandy Area Chamber of Commerce at the Tuesday meeting here. Howard Berger is OMSI chairman for the auction here. So far, he said items donated have included a used car, money towards a pump and well, some used doors, a U.S. Savings bond, and appealed to everyone for any item for the auction. Berger pointed out, however, that no clothing is needed for the OMSI auction. Date for the event is Saturday, April 23. Persons who wish to donate for the auction may contact Mr. Berger at the Clackamas County Bank.

President Robert Grockett, of the Chamber, asked members to get going on the membership drive. Currently George Morgan and Ralph Richardson are tied in their team effort to get members signed up.

Mayor Mike Paluck asked that the Chamber and other civic groups plan the city-wide clean-up early in May. The annual event is a general pick-up of trash by volunteers, after home-owners and owners of empty lots have cleaned up their premises.

Olin Bignall, chairman of the brochure committee said work on the brochure is about complete, and that if the weather cooperates, pictures that have been scheduled will be taken for the brochure.

Among guests introduced at the luncheon was J. H. Van Winkle, former editor of the Daily Enterprise in Oregon City, who is now a Democratic candidate for Clackamas county commissioner.

Mayors Invited

City officials of Sandy and other cities in Clackamas county have been invited by Mayor George W. Thomas of Lake Oswego to attend a regional meeting of the League of Oregon Cities Thursday evening, April 28, in Lake Oswego at the Ramada Inn.

CAPTAINS OF CANCER CRUSADE met at Sandy high school Monday evening, for final preparations for fund drive next week. On hand to great volunteers at high school lobby were Al Gandenbels, general chairman for drive in the Hoodland area, Vance Hewitt and Ralph Hoard. Ladies in picture include Mrs. Gene Strong, Mrs. Jeanette Sandercock, Mrs. William Hewgley, Mrs. Madeline Ihrke, Mrs. Ed Hawkins, Mrs. Helen Wiesen, Mrs. Vance Hewitt.
