News From Eagle Creek

BY SALLY SEYMOUR

ed not: This week the Post welcomes a new columnist, Sally Seymour, who will write news from Eagle Creek. Sally and her husband Dick live on Rt. 1, Box 58 Eagle Creek and have two daughters, three year-old Darcy and Darla, six months. Dick is employed at Mt. Electronics, Sandy, and Sally works at home. She says "For the information of doubting husbands, being a housewife and raising children is work! The Seymours have lived in Eagle Creek four years and came there from Forest Grove where both were raised. Sally reports their hobby and sideline is raising registered Appaloosa horses and "enjoying their neighbors."

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Gaylord recently returned from an enjoyable trip to Swan Valley, Idaho. They visited their son Fred, and his June bride, Sandra. He works for the U.S. Geological Survey and moves around the country quite a bit. Hallie Brandenburg's campfire group has started their meetings and have had ceremonial to pass rank.

When the ladies of the grange went to make coffee early for dinner, they had a little trouble trying to open the door with the school bus key that Donna had given them, instead of the door key.

Mrs. Emma Buhlinger and daughter, Carol Ann and Patty, went to Anchorage, Alaska for Carol Ann's marriage to Bill Tucker, who's in the service and stationed up there. Tony stayed home to work.

Did you know that school was being taught at Eagle Creek in 1849, by settlers who came down the Barlow Trail? They built the first school house on that property in 1850. They built the next one in 1911, and added to it in 1951. That makes three schools in 110 years. No wonder the school is overcrowded now and worse to come. I went to hear about the proposed new school with a "show me" attitude, and came away realizing it is very badly needed now! Any "doubting Thomas", should check into the facts and they would see that we really need that bond issue voted in.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Nelson drove to Seattle to visit daughter Bonnie returned home with them for the weekend.

Eagle Creek has many new families moving in all the time. I wonder if they know that there is a little white Presbyterian Church down near the Eagle Creek Store. Church starts at 9:45 a.m. and Sunday school at 11. The Rev. Dalrample is the minister and I'm sure he would enjoy giving you further information you might want. A lot of friendly people attend there every Sunday.

The Loyal Bossen family just from a ten-day trip to Texas. They started out on the City of Portland Domeliner to Denver, then transferred to a "not very" streamliner to Fort Worth, then took a bus to Austin, where they picked up the new school bus. Starting back, they drove through Aberdeen, Lubock, and Amarillo to New Mexico, sight-seeing all the way. Next up to Colorado and the top of Pikes Peak, where they found the view thrilling, but it was a little hard to breathe at 14,170 ft. Then thru Leadville on to Utah and the Mormon Temple and across the salt flats. Thru Nevada to Burns and on to Bend where they visited an aunt and uncle. They had a wonderful, fun-filled, food-filled, trip. I hear Donna gained a pound a day. Souther-fried chicken!

We really enjoyed Booster night at the grange Saturday night. There was a delicious pot luck dinner with the fried chicken supplied by the grange. Hallie Brandenburg was in charge of the program which was participated in by many and enjoyed by all. I had no idea that Ora Gaylord was such a playboy in his younger days. The information about the school bond issue was very helpful.

Virgil Nelson gave an informative talk about how the grange, through its members, can be very helpful in all the different problems that effect their community. It is a good way for families new to Eagle Creek to meet their neighbors and become participating members of their new community. Families can benefit because there are always some educational, interesting, new items to learn at meetings as well the enjoyment of visiting with neighbors. Those interested should contact Virgil Nelson. If anybody has any news items they would like in the paper, please call me. My number is 279-6368.
