OSU Holds Open House

More than 4,000 Oregon high school seniors, their parents, teachers, and friends are expected to attend Oregon State University's annual Beaver Open House Saturday, Jan. 20.

The day-long openhouse program is designed to acquaint visitors with educational programs, facilities and student life at OSU.

Most of the day will be devoted to school meetings at which students and their parents will be briefed on fields of study, course and graduation requirements, and career opportunities after college.

Other sessions will present information on housing accommodations and costs; admission requirements; financial aids, including scholarships, loans and part-time work opportunities; advising and counseling programs and ROTC programs for men.

The program will begin at 8:30 a.m. in OSU's Gill Coliseum. Special tours, displays and a luncheon also are planned.

Gulvin-Voegtly Vows Given In Community Church Rites

MR. AND MRS. NICKOLAS EDWARD VOEGTLY
(Janice Louise Gulvin)

Holly decked the Sandy Community Presbyterian Church for the afternoon wedding, Dec. 19, of Janice Louise Gulvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gulvin, of Sandy, to Nickolas Edward Voegtly, son of Mayor and Mrs. Raymond Voegtly of Burns. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Neuenfeldt.

The bride's full length gown of dull satin was fashioned in a relaxed skimmer style with yoke and long sleeves of alien lace. The train was also of satin with a wide inset of lace. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was held in place with a cluster of white velvet petals. She carried a white Bible and bridal bouquet of white rosebuds centered with a single red rose. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Judy Jonsrud, Sandy, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Debbie Chase, Eugene;

Chris Lundy, Cottage Grove; and Sally Weare, Burns. The maid of honor's full length gown of midnight blue velvet was matched by the bridesmaids. The attendants all carried white poinsettias.

Best man was Bill Steele, Eugene, while Dwight Clarke and Mike Schauerma both also of Eugene, and the bride's brother, Douglas, acted as ushers. Dwight and Douglas also served as candlelighters.

Mrs. Rich Wesselink was organist and Leslie Jonsrud, soloist, was accompanied by Shelley Speer.

The bride's mother wore a winter-white suit with full length coat, red rose corsage and dark green accessories. For her son's wedding, the groom's mother chose a soft, blue, brocade jacket dress accented with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

At the reception, which was held at the church following the ceremony, Mrs. Willis Whedon and Mrs. Philip Jonsrud poured, while the bride's aunts, Mrs. Ervin Mead of Banks, and Mrs. Melvin Wells of Scholls, cut and served the cake. The guest book was passed by Miss Heather Duncan of Eugene.

The newlyweds honeymooned for a week at the Oregon beaches and spent the Christmas holidays with their parents before returning to Eugene where they will live while continuing their studies at the University of Oregon.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

by KEN BATEMAN

No matter when news occurs, whether it be at the dawn of day or in the shadows of night, eager beaver reporters report it almost as fast as it happens. We are the most news hungry and at the same time the best news-fed people on earth. We take this privilege for granted, but we should also remember a fact of business life.

It costs money—lots of money—to publish a newspaper or to operate a radio or TV station or network. Where does most of this money come from?

Advertising. Since we are quick at times to condemn the antics and some of the routines of our communications media, let's also be fair and give credit where and when credit is due. Newspapers and all other media should be congratulated for the way they report the pro and con issue of health hazards in smoking. The tobacco industry is big business, spends lots of money in advertising. Yet, the health hazards reports are fairly featured and the media knows very well the reports (true or false) can affect their income and profit. Whether just a few or a lot of people have or will change a smoking habit is beside the point. The publishers and broadcasters deserve a pat on the back for their courage in being willing to risk dollar profits in behalf of a possible public interest.

GAIL MARONAY

Engaged

At a recent family dinner party, Mr. and Mrs. Al. Morner of Sandy announced the engagement of her daughter, Gail Maronay, to Terry Robde of Portland.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of the late Mr. Richard Maronay, graduated from Northwestern School of Commerce and is employed at King, Miller, Anderson, Nash & Yerke, attorneys at law.

Her fiancé, son of Mrs. George Robde and the late Mr. George Robde, attended Oregon Technical Institute before serving three years in the United States Army with one year active duty in Viet Nam. Terry is now attending Oregon Polytechnic Institute and is employed at Mascott Equipment Co., Inc.

A late June wedding is planned.

OTI Students Make Honor Roll

Michael Bauer of Sandy has been named on the Honor List for the Fall Term at Oregon Technical Institute. Bauer is a student in Highway Engineering Technology. To qualify for the Honor List, students had to earn a G.P.A. of 3.5 or over.

Among those receiving recognition on the OTI Dean's list, with an earned G.P.A. between 3.0 and 3.5, was Kenneth Kreiger, Estacada, a student in Structural Design Technology.

Skiing, often done at high altitudes, places an added burden on heart and lungs. Get accustomed to the changed atmosphere before rushing into the fun, Oregon Heart Association advises.
