BORING -- Louise Shields' sixth graders at Boring elementary school adopted Boring resident Merritt Schilling as their soldier of the year. Last month they made original valentines and mailed to their soldier friend, imagine the excitement when two boxes from Vietnam were delivered to the class, and their thoughtful friend acknowledged each card and tacked on each name a five cent Vietnamese "dong." (We hope this is the correct term for the coin.) Merritt is husband of the former Janet Meier, Mrs. Shields' group also made get well cards for Governor Tom McCall, which he displayed on a TV program, even reading two of the messages. Further, he wrote a letter to the class noting he was so glad they were interested in history (their cards had tied in Oregon's entry into the Union, get-well messages and Valentine greetings), and he mentioned that he was pleased with Oregon schools.

Incidentally, the Matt Shields vacationed at their trailer in Taft this weekend, and Mrs. Shields is delegated to attend the Delta Kappa Gamma convention in Ontario this spring, so a break from work routine is a needed respite, Matt, too, has worked hard on the local water board and church responsibilities and enjoys beach quiet.

Bill Jordan, new leader at Boring Community Methodist church who is making friends in his quiet way, has chosen "Follow Me," as sermon topic at 11 a.m. service Sunday. Vocalist Eric Johnson and organist Betsi Johnson provided special music last Sunday.

ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

Notice of a Public Hearing to be held at the regular Sandy City Council April 1st, 1968 at 8:00 P.M., at City Hall Council Chambers to consider an amendment to the city's Zoning Ordinance #53, Section 71. Conditional Use: Council Action.

Sub. Sec. (1) which now reads "After receiving and hearing the report of the Commission the Council may approve or deny the application. In allowing a Conditional Use the Council may impose requirements stipulated by the Commission in its report of recommendation." to be changed to read

Sub. Sec. (1) After receiving the report of the Commission the Council shall hold a public hearing as described in Sec. 69, at which time it may approve or deny the application. In allowing a conditional use the Council may impose requirements stipulated by the Commission in its report of recommendation."

The reason for this change is to clear up the ambiguity which exists in the present ordinance and gives the impression that no public hearing shall be held by the City Council. This change is designed to clearly state that a Public Hearing on conditional uses shall be held before City Council takes action.
