

THE SNOW this week had many of the school buses using chains to take the students to and from school. Schools were not closed in the Sandy area although they were in other areas of the state due to the weather. Also a huge traffic jam was caused Sunday night at Government Camp as skiers were caught unprepared for the heavy snow and cold weather.

Sandy high activities

By ELEANORE HERMANSON

The holiday season provided the opportunity for many Sandy High School faculty members to travel.

Mrs. Bonita Bayley, mathematics head, and family journeyed to Fargo, N.D., for her first Christmas at home since she left in 1950. They had to return to Oregon early so daughter Carol could perform with the Multnomah Athletic Club tumbling team at halftime during the Portland Trailblazer-Chicago Bulls basketball game.

George Lienkaemper, and his wife went to Phoenix to visit friends.

Mrs. Linda Runnels flew home to Florence, Colorado, south of Denver, for a brief visit.

Jack Slingerland, and family journeyed by train to Billings, Montana to visit his in-laws and show off his new infant son. He reports that the train was filled with teachers from many parts of the country going home at the last minute.

Miss Barbara Beehler, made a whirlwind tour of Germany and Switzerland, even riding to the top of a Swiss Alpine mountain by cable car.

Traveling to Arizona during the holidays, Mrs. Eleanor Hermanson, and family visited former Sandyites Willie and Connie O'Doherty Whitlock and little daughter in Phoenix. Willie is a mechanic there and has just purchased a new home. Both Connie and Willie graduated from Sandy High.

Pre-registration materials are being readied now in preparation for early scheduling. The counseling center plans to have next year's completed schedules in students' hands before this school year is finished.

Vice-principal Fred Proett reports that several parents and community residents have toured the school this year and others are welcome to do so also. Anyone interested should contact him at 668-4151.

Key Club members, assisted by Adviser Gary Connelly and other Kiwanians, have almost completed a redecorating job in the cafeteria. During the holidays, many hours were spent in laying out the modern design and applying the black, orange, white and maroon paint.

A Christmas pageant was presented Dec. 23 by Ken Stewart's drama classes in a special assembly. It was the first Christmas pageant presented at the school in more than 10 years. Participants were Julie Fleischman, Lonna Tigle, Mike Blakeley, Ellynn Ligatich, Sandy Hottman, Mark Shearman, Chris Dudley, Mark Naylor, Richard Murray and Leann Kasch.

Interpretive readings were given by Gary Moody, Connie Eldridge, Wayne Taylor, Debbie Tinker, Sally Lymp and Joyce Hilton. The Pionaires performed and Gary Berger, along with the Pionaires, led the students in Christmas carol singing.

Besides being occupied with speech and drama activities, Stewart has found time to become scout master of Troop 176 in Sandy. He took 15 boys to Nanitch for a camp out over the vacation.

Steve Guth's U.S. History class was visited by Mr. Ortiz of the Southern Pacific R.R., during recent studies of American railroads. Opal Bryant invited Mr. Ortiz to speak.

Designing and painting the walls of the cafeteria during Christmas vacation was the task of Gary Connelly's Key Club. The supergraphic design was done by Kurt Dobin. Helping to apply paint were Danny O'Dell, Les Decker, Cliff Sandercock, Mike Dyal, Larry Wolfe, Jerry Stratton, Tom Benshoof and Tim Benshoof. The Key Club is an affiliate of the Kiwanis and the local Kiwanis helped with this project.

Don Gardner's bands are hard at work preparing for a February playing date. The other symphonic band is working on a difficult number, with narration, "A Portrait of Lincoln," and "Chester" a hymn from the American Revolution, set to several modern variations.

John Bowman's vocal groups are active singing. They do have groups that sing at luncheons and dinner meetings.

Ken Brown, athletic director, met with other athletic directors of the Coast Valley League and the P.I.L.'s Paul McCall to fill a "bye" in the C.V.L. schedule, as Tillamook has dropped into a lower classification.

Mrs. E. Howard, librarian, reports an average of 50 books checked out per day and about 260 students use the library for reading and reference work each day.

Mrs. Rachel Larsen, home economist for Home Economics III, reports her classes have finished their sewing and tailoring projects, two piece lined outfits.

Home Economics I is starting interior decorating and will design and decorate their "dream" bedroom. With the change of semesters Mrs. Larsen will move to the food lab, and Mrs. Jim Wolf takes over the sewing machines.

Mrs. H. Nelson, counselor, is also in charge of the student body accounts for clubs such as Speech and French which have a large volume of business. These accounts amount to a savings account of $2,346 an average $1,500 per month in payment of bills. Last year the student accounts took in $22,566. Kathy Roper and student body treasurer, Debbie Gunderman, aid Mrs. Nelson in keeping these student accounts correct and in balance.

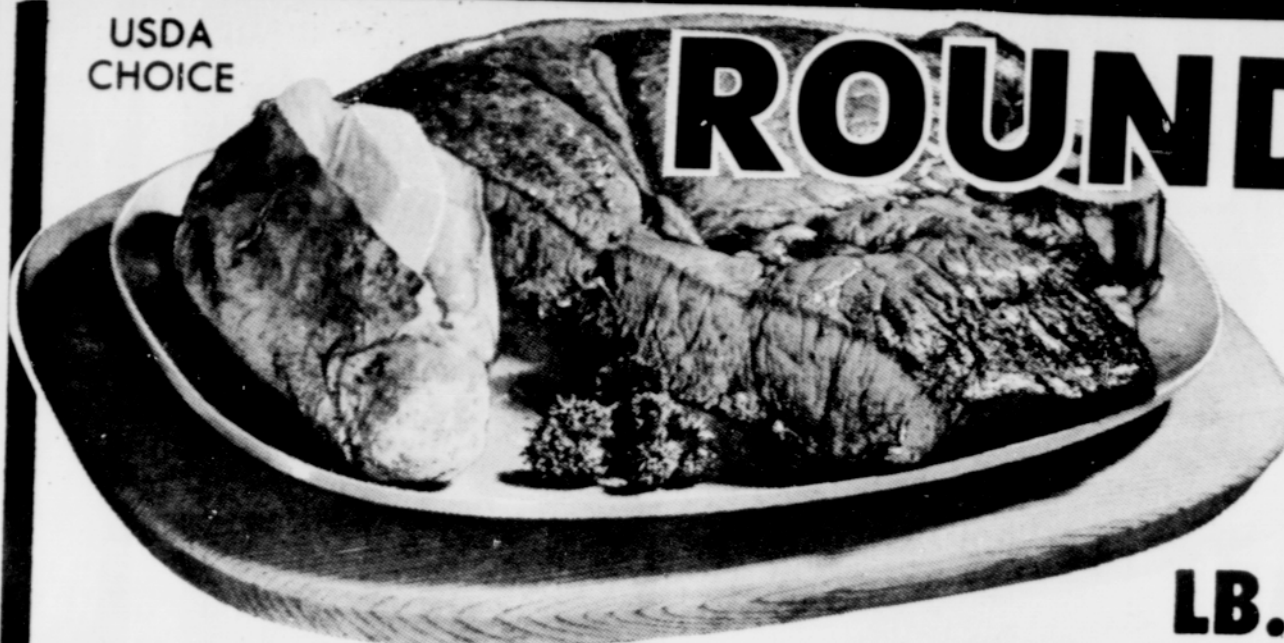

Ken Stewart, speech teacher, has been made Scout Master of Sandy's Boy Scout Troop 176, and Don Gardner, band instructor, is the assistant of Troop 662. Gardner is a former Eagle Scout.

Jim Turin's advanced Biology students are engaged in a comparative anatomy and physiology study. They have done a dissection study of two invertebrates (crayfish and grasshopper). The students have just completed work on the shark, and are now beginning a study on the fetal pig. These biology classes are a source of great enjoyment to the students and teacher alike, however, neighboring classes are protesting vigorously the odor of formaldehyde that is permeating adjacent classrooms.
