Society plans Sunday meet

Judge Ralph Holman of the State Supreme Court, a collector of Wedgwood ware, has been invited to talk about his hobby at a special afternoon meeting of the Clackamas County Historical Society. Wedgwood ware is a beautiful high-grade chinaware first made by England's most famous potter, Josiah Wedgwood, in the 1700s. There are a number of important classes of Wedgwood ware besides the white cameo reliefs on blue background so widely admired. The meeting will be at Merti Stevens' Guest House, 607 Washington Street, Oregon City, January 31 at 2 o'clock. This special afternoon meeting on the fifth Sunday of the month is arranged primarily for those unable to attend evening meetings of the Society. Everyone is cordially invited.
