A PERFECT HIT was made on a Sandy Grade School bus window last Friday by a snowball thrown by a youngster. The window damage will cost the district about $80, according to school officials. The incident happened on S. Gunderson Rd. of Duncan Rd. and another bus had to be called to finish making the route. No one was hurt by the broken window but school officials stressed that the kids had been warned not to throw snowballs at the bus during the recent storm.

The new year brought us a new girl. Now we have an even number of boys and girls. The principal said our room was the cleanest of all. We did not track in mud. We had been working on this because we want to keep our room clean. It was so nice when we came back from vacation.

Everyone was happy to see each other after Christmas. Now we are working hard. Nearly everyone has had two reading tests since Christmas. Our reading chart is filling up. Debbie Price is going to leave us. We are sorry. Maybe she will write us a letter.

This new year we are trying to have good habits. Grown-ups call these resolutions.

Mrs. Haneberg's First Grade
 The globe and the map are of interest to us right now since we are studying about Alaska. We know where the North Pole, Alaska, north, south, east, and west are. Our last Weekly Reader had a section about Alaska too. Gregory Anderson brought a little Eskimo doll dressed in fur clothing and a little seal.

Stephen Brader received a Christmas gift he is sharing with our class for awhile. It is a set of three globes consisting of the earth, the moon, and the stars. We are starting a unit on stars to discover what they are.

On Wednesday we had Jennifer Wong and Tina Ball popping out with chicken pox. We are wondering how many others will be affected.

 The following children did extra spelling this week: Susan Wilson, Robin Rohde, Cindy Vandenburg, Lennie Oleman, Kenneth Palmer, Lisa

What are friends? Are they Indians or Greeks? How about even Americans? Are they too old or too young? Too fast or too slow? Are they even people we don't know? Our friends are, or should be every person in the world.

Friends should be all people. Rich or poor or young or old. Slow or fast, dumb or smart. Even if they haven't a heart. Other people get mad and have fights. Try to be their friends. Friends, friends, everyone should have some friends.

Do you have a fat or skinny friend? How about in between? Did you ever shake their hand? Do you have friends in foreign lands or in other states? Does one live next door to you or just across the street? Well, just as long as you have a friend, you're all right.

There is a lot of excitement about book auctions in Mrs. Enz's room. Each child tells just enough about his book to arouse curiosity. Then the child reporting serves as an auctioneer. The book goes to the highest bidder to read for a week.

Pioneer Association sets pot-luck meeting

The winter meeting of the Sandy Pioneer Association, Inc. will be held on Sunday, Jan. 31, 1971 in the Masonic Hall in Sandy beginning at 1 p.m. Grant DeShazer, president, will preside at the meeting.

Plans will be made for the coming year. There will be discussion of the participation of the organization in the proposed Sandy Centennial to be held in 1973. Also on the agenda are plans for a museum to be constructed in Pioneer Park.

Historical documents and objects pertaining to the Sandy area are being accepted by the Association and some are now on display in the lobby of City Hall.

The meeting will begin with a pot-luck dinner at 1 p.m. All pioneers, sons and daughters of pioneers, friends and those interested in the history of Sandy are invited to bring their dinner and join in making plans for a great centennial. If you are not now a member, you can join by paying the annual dues of $1 at the meeting.

About five percent of all police officers are women. Almost all are employed by large city police departments where their work frequently involves handling cases dealing with juveniles and women.
