than last year, showing 18 deaths this year to 24 deaths at the same time last year according to the Oregon Motor Vehicles Division.

However, half of Oregon's counties have higher traffic death tolls this year, showing the state's death count for the first six months to 340. This is an increase of 18 per cent over the same period last year.

The count is also running nearly eight per cent above 1969, the year Oregon recorded its all-time high toll of 713.

June traffic produced 77 deaths, the highest toll for that month ever recorded in Oregon and 30 more deaths than reported for June last year. Only two days went death free during the month. The division says at least 28 per cent of the June victims had seat belts available at the time of the crash but were not using them.

The deaths of four bicycle riders during June brought the number of bicyclists killed so far this year to seven compared with two at the same time last year and 12 for the entire year.

County fair change noted

Approximately 1,000 Clackamas County Fair Premium List booklets have been mailed out to all last year's exhibitors, it is announced by Nancy Eymann, office manager at the fairgrounds.

The 1972 Clackamas County Fair, heralding its 66th year of existence, will project the "Panorama '72 - Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow". This year's event is scheduled Tuesday through Saturday, August 15-19.

The premium book, essential handbook of the fair, lists all prize classifications, competitive divisions, rules governing exhibits, and general fair information. There are complete sections dealing with livestock, agricultural crops, and vegetables, farm organizations, horticulture, floral exhibits, textiles, domestic science, hobbies, and art. Special sections schedule 4-H and FFA activities throughout the five days of the fair.

Premium Lists may be obtained, Miss Eymann says, by writing the fair office, P.O. Box 658, Canby, Oregon 97013, or by calling 266-1136 or 656-7951 and leaving your name, address, and area of interest.

The fair office is now open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Aspiring juvenile entertainers anxious "to do their thing" on stage are needed to round out the outdoor show program at the Clackamas County Fair, August 15-19. Audri Cotton of Gladstone, now in her fourth year as program director for the annual fair, has announced that there are still some spots left open in a couple of the daily show programs.

The outdoor stage entertainment at the fairgrounds runs continuously from 2 through 10 p.m. the five days of the fair, Tuesday through Saturday.

Any type of an amateur act — dancing, vocal, instrumental, baton twirling, gymnastic, dramatic, or other crowd-pleasing performance is welcome, Mrs. Cotton says. The daily stage entertainment is one of the prime attractions at the annual fair and audiences have shown themselves highly appreciative of the entertainment offered, she notes.

Those who would like to perform at the annual fair are urged to call Audri Cotton, 656-1297, for an audition.

Doctor moves x-rays here

When Dr. Walter Noehren left his medical practice here in Sandy to move to Reno a couple of years ago, he left some old x-rays of his patients in the backroom.

These x-rays are still available to his ex-patients if they are needed. A situation came up recently in which a family needed some old x-rays to make an insurance claim.

More information may be obtained by calling Merl Dahrens at 668-4033.

Poster winners get scholarships

Top winners of a national poster contest for high school students (in grades 9-12) will share $3,000 in scholarships in addition to a trip to the Nation's Capitol.

The poster contest with the theme "Hire a Veteran" is sponsored by the Veterans Administration for all high school students in public, private and parochial schools. This poster size must be 17 x 22 inches; there are no other restrictions.

Scholarships of $1,500; $1,000; and $500 are offered to the three national winners. C.J. Griesmeyer, Director of the VA Regional Office in Portland, announced that additional prizes of U.S. savings bonds will be given to area and state level winners in Oregon.

Students are urged to work on their posters during summer vacation. The contest must get underway promptly when schools open after the summer vacation so that the national victors can be in Washington, D.C. on Veterans Day, October 23. Griesmeyer stated that the three top winners are to be VIP's at the annual Veterans Day national observance at Arlington National Cemetery.

Apartment rifled
