

County 4-H leaders meet

Clackamas county 4-H Horse club leaders will meet at 8 p.m. September 21 in McLoughlin Hall on the Clackamas Community College campus to organize the year's activities. The agenda will include such items as new horse project material available, leader training in the county and state, material available for new and prospective leaders, County Fair, and what's ahead for the 4-H horse project.

Of the more than fifty 4-H projects available to the counties youth, the one involving horses has proved the most popular both for urban and rural youth. Over 800 members and 80 leaders are currently active in the project. Many more are expected to enroll this year according to T. D. Zurcher, County Extension agent. Interested individuals should contact the county Extension office for information. Many new clubs are currently being formed.

Bear Creek 4-H wins at show

Three of the "Bear Creek Bandits" 4-H group won honors at a recent horse show at N. K. Stables in Portland.

The three members brought home one high point junior ribbon, three trophies, three blue ribbons, three second place ribbons, three third place ribbons, one fourth place ribbon, one fifth place ribbon and one reserve.

Featured at the show was a last minute "surprise" class, for which the participants had to change clothes and equipment.

Retired educators plan luncheon

The Sandy Unit of the Oregon Retired Educators Association held their August picnic meeting at Edna Rohde's home and their September meeting at the Clyde Sutherland home.

The meetings were conducted by president Maude Johnson. Information for the official 1971-72 director was gathered from the members, delegates to the fall conference at Pendleton were selected and the two-day program was discussed.

It was noted that the Kiwanis Birthday Calendar was completed and mailed to the publishers prior to the September 11th deadline. Three hundred twenty calendars had been ordered for distribution in December - 750 birthdays and anniversaries had been listed, plus 500 club meeting dates. The calendar netted Kiwanis $175 and the Retired Educators Association, who promoted the calendar project this year, $195. Both sums will be used for various community services. The association expressed a desire to center attention upon

Gem show slated

The Mt. Hood Rock Club will hold its 16th annual Gem and Mineral Show, Sat., Sept. 23 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sun. from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will be held in the Recreation Bldg. on the Mt. Hood College campus.

Among attractions at the show are displays of agates, gems, minerals, and fossils, as well as demonstrations of cutting, polishing, and jewelry-making. A snack bar will be featured. The public is invited; there is no admission charge. Parking is free in the campus lot.

The Club meets second Wednesday, and fourth Monday each month in the Group Instruction Room at Dexter McCarty Grade School.
