Yule trees need care

Place your tree away from heat. It will dry up and be dangerous soon enough.

Use only noncombustible decorations. Inspect your lighting cords to make sure they are not frayed or broken.

Make sure your tree is not blocking a doorway, so that if there is a fire you can escape.

Water your tree daily and before the needles get dry, throw it out.

Ray McNeilan joins Northwest Nursery

Ray McNeilan is now vice president in charge of research and development in product planning at Northwest Nursery, Inc., Boring.

The announcement came from John Pickett, chairman, and Duane Sherwood, president, of the large nursery firm.

McNeilan is well known to Oregon and Washington nurserymen, having served as Extension Agent working in ornamental horticulture for O.S.U. for 13 years.

He was stationed in Gresham.

He joined the firm December 1 and will be working on new cultural techniques for market production and cost saving ideas for growers marketing through Northwest Nursery.

One of his projects will be continuing the work started (3) years ago perfecting bare rooting and peat-balling techniques for evergreen field grown nursery stock.

McNeilan will be working with cooperating nursery stock producers on production and quality control problems and helping develop marketing channels for nursery stock needed to serve N.W.N. accounts.

Northwest Nursery will be offering a broad range of grower support services designed to help growers produce the quality needed for profitable sales.

Northwest Nursery, with planned marketing programs, serves major sales organizations with volume production and sales to better represent Oregon's nursery industry. Top quality plants are needed to effectively fill Northwest Nursery volume marketing requirements.

Arrangements are being made to help Oregon growers to profitably plan their growing activities and sales. Growers are encouraged to contact McNeilan for more information and personal review of the cooperative Northwest Nursery grower program.

Coats taken

Charles Sparks, 805 NW Angeline, and Edward Searle, Beaverton, reported to Gresham police Dec. 12 that while they were eating in a local restaurant their cars had been entered. A coat and gloves valued at $24 were taken from Searle's car and a coat valued at $45 taken from Sparks' car.

Corbett Yule party planned

The second annual community Christmas party will be held in the multi-purpose room of Corbett High School, Saturday, Dec. 23, from 7 to 8 p.m.

The affair, sponsored by the Northeast Multnomah County Community Association, will feature group singing, entertainment and a special visit from Santa Claus with treats for children.

Santa's appearance has been arranged by the Columbia Gorge Kiwanis. The Columbia Grange is providing refreshments for the evening.

"This is a last minute chance for people in our community to get together and wish each other a merry Christmas," noted Bill Quinn, chairman.

Colonial Cattle

Beef was considered a by-product of cattle by early American colonists who valued the animals more for their ability to work, their milk and hides. With wild game in plentiful supply and cattle scarce, the meat from cattle was of little economic importance. Some of the town meetings of the time even passed ordinances prohibiting the slaughter of oxen before they had passed the useful work age.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Make someone happy.

Your Northwest Ford Team can help... Pinto's the little surprise package that's bound to make someone happy. And when you're happy, your Ford Dealer's happy.

Pinto's the little economy car with spirited performance, sporty styling, and sure-footed handling. Choose the popular 2-door sedan, the versatile 3-door runabout, or the roomy Pinto station wagon. There's even a Pinto Squire option that comes already gift-wrapped with handsome woodgrain trim.

Let your nearby Northwest Ford Dealer show you how easy it is to wrap up a happy deal on a '73 Pinto in time for Christmas.
