Centennial Year Starts

The Sandy Centennial and Barlow Road Days celebration in Sandy will get into full swing this weekend.

Sunday will be the day with the major events, but for those of you hunting for a good place for dinner Saturday try the AFS dinner at the high school.

There will be several visiting exchange students and it would be tremendous for us to show our "Centennial spirit" by attending the dinner and other activities planned. Sunday morning you can head for the Boring 4-H breakfast at the Boring grade school and then get ready for the community beef dinner and other activities at the high school.

The Post Office will also be holding an open house Sunday afternoon and the dedication ceremony is set for 3 p.m. at the city hall.

This is just the start of the Centennial year here and we look forward to it getting off to a good start. Citizen participation will be a key factor in helping the Centennial year be a success.

No Amnesty for Draft Dodgers

We couldn't let President Nixon's stand this week on amnesty for draft dodgers pass us up without some kind of comment—mostly in the affirmative.

Of course the Vietnam war has been a miserable affair that we will want to forget. There's no argument in that. Still, we can't condone the actions of those who chose to skip the country and bury their heads in the sand while others in their age bracket did the work for them.

The individuals who left the country to evade the draft made their choice at that time; they took their chances crossed the borders. As President Nixon stated, they don't have to come back now—they are welcome to stay where they are.

If amnesty were granted, what kind of reaction could we expect from those who accepted the draft call into the Armed Forces and served their time? They didn't want to go, either. It is sad. And it is ironic, too. Now we no longer have a draft.

Group formed to fight Sandy as 'Scenic River'

Property owners opposed to the designation of a scenic waterway on the Sandy River have informed Governor Tom McCall of their plan to create an association resisting creation of the waterway.

Approximately 100 persons met last Wednesday in Sandy to form an association to protest the waterway status proposed by the Oregon State Highway department. The group was scheduled to meet again Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall, Sandy, to adopt a name for the association and elect officers.

Instrumental in forming the group are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nelson, Rt. 3, Box 972, Troutdale. The Nelsons recently purchased property on the Sandy within the 12.5 mile stretch of the river proposed for the waterway.

"We attended both hearings held by the state on Jan. 23 and 24," said Mrs. Nelson. "We feel the scenic water rules are very restrictive. We sent out invitations to all property owners who will be affected by the designation to meet on Jan. 31 at Sandy."

A wire to Governor McCall sent by the Nelsons this week stated, "Of the 107 present at the meeting, 94 per cent were opposed to naming 12.5 miles of the Sandy as a scenic waterway."

The Nelsons further asked McCall to delay signing the act until an independent study can be made by an impartial commission. They also requested an environmental impact study and study of the restricted and limited road access to the river in regard to fire protection, law enforcement and rescue problems.

Association members are collecting petitions in opposition to the waterway for presentation to McCall.

Mrs. Nelson said the new association has funds coming in to organize a fight against the proposal. The money will be used to pay an attorney. A professional public relations firm and a lobbyist have also been suggested.

"We hope for wide support from the community," said Mrs. Nelson. "The state claims it will preserve the river. We don't think they will. For instance, the limited access to the river won't include present roads into Dodge and Oxbow Parks. The roads will probably be improved drawing large crowds from Portland."

"We already have dope, liquor, nudity, litter and all kinds of problems along the river. Clackamas County law enforcement officials claim they can't control it now. Even rescue is a problem. In many places along the river the only way to get in is by helicopter and then it's usually too late."

Five new homes slated

During the month of January, the city of Sandy approved building permits for an estimated total of $671,396.

The largest was a $571,000 building permit for the new addition to the upper grades at Sandy grade school. Work on this project is set to begin immediately, according to Sandy grade school superintendent Tony Bryant.

Other permits issued included five for new homes and one for a pump station at the high school.

Joe Yoerger received a permit for a $19,000 home to be built on Cherry St. Brinkley and Sons will build a $19,180 home on the Brinkley subdivision on Kelso

City council, planner meet

The Sandy city council will hold its February meeting on Monday night, 8 p.m., in the city hall.

At this meeting, the council will begin work on the budget for 1973-1974.

Also next week, on Wednesday, 8 p.m., in the city hall the Sandy Planning Commission will meet.

The planning meeting had been slated for last Wednesday, but it was postponed for one week because of an annexation hearing which concerned Sandy at the Boundary Review Board.

Fire dispatch question goes before board

The Sandy Rural Fire District board will hold a meeting Tuesday, 8 p.m., at the fire hall in Sandy.

On the agenda, will be discussion of the dispatch system for the district.

Fire chief Bob Rathke has proposed the consolidation of the Sandy dispatch system with the dispatch systems of Boring and Estacada fire districts.

Sandy high board seeks

The Sandy high school board will hold its February meeting Monday night, 8 p.m., in the library. The meeting is open to the public.

The board is currently seeking to appoint a board member from the Welches grade school district.

Tom Hollenbeck who was elected this past Spring from the Welches district has resigned from the board.

LETTERS ToThe EDITOR

To the Editor:

In answer to Commissioner Stefani's questions directed to Commissioner Telford, appearing in your newspaper under the To the Editor column, Commissioner Stefani, the Commissioner of education, pussy-footed around with the union negotiator, Mr. Abelson of the Sheriff's union, for almost six months until an impasse was declared at which time Commissioner Schumacher, the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners at that time, and Commissioner Telford continued the negotiations and both signed the union agreement which contained:

(1) A salary increase of 5 per cent for fifteen (15) employees in the Command Section of the Sheriff's department in lieu of overtime. The State law says we shall pay overtime for any person, other than an elected official, who works more than eight hours in one day or 40 hours in one week. This action will in my opinion save the County $5,000 in the next six months because all overtime for these 15 men has been waived for a 5 per cent increase in salary.

(2) Medical coverage for the spouse and family as a negotiated item. The union asked for medical coverage of the spouse and family and dental coverage for the entire family. The dental coverage was denied and the spouse and family medical coverage was approved by Commissioner Schumacher and Commissioner Telford.

(3) Providing a $10,000 life insurance policy for all commissioned officers of the Sheriff's office, which is mandatory by State law starting July 1, 1973. I voted to start the insurance January 1, 1973 due to the low premium of $3.60 per month which covers the deputy sheriff 24 hours a day and is payable to his wife and family on death for any cause, including a suicide. (I pay $19.00 per month for my government $10,000 G.I. insurance.) The $10,000 insurance is provided in addition to the now existing $4,000 insurance provided for all county employees because the existing $4,000 insurance cannot qualify to be credited to the $10,000 insurance requirement of the State law and I am sure Commissioner Stefani is aware of this. I don't think Commissioner Stefani appreciates the fact that our Deputy Sheriffs lay their life on the line 5 days a week for the people of Clackamas County.

The illegal retroactive pay, as claimed by Commissioner Stefani, is in accordance with the union agreement, and is a matter of opinion and if Commissioner Stefani thinks the union agreement is illegal, he should report the matter to the Grand Jury as it was negotiated by Commissioner Schumacher and Commissioner Telford in good faith and upon advice from a deputy of the Clackamas County District Attorney's office.

To the Editor:
It is not our desire that our children learn conformity and suspicion of others in school or elsewhere. We try to instill in our children that everyone is different but they can be respected for their differences and God loves us all.

We are very sorry to learn that Mr. Park could not be used as a voluntary teacher aide in our schools. This person is a fine family man, enjoys his children and spends a lot of time teaching them. It seems to us that the school could use a man of this caliber working with the children. So many children are missing the father image in their families and need it for normal mental growth.

The Sandy Post stated in the paper that more voluntary teacher aides were needed but if the school cannot accept a person qualified like Mr. Park some of the rest of us feel very reluctant and unqualified to volunteer.

To the Editor:

We wish to commend and thank the members of the Sandy Fire Dept. with the assistance of the Boring and Estacada Fire Depts. for the remarkable way they contained the fire that began in the apartment below the Cedar Plaza Store.

Their speed, efficiency, and teamwork kept the flames from completely destroying Cedar Plaza Dept. Store, the Sandy Travel Service, and the other businesses in the building.

We are very proud of our fire Dept., and we extend our sincere gratitude to each and every member.

To the Editor:

As Mother's March Chairman of the Sandy Hoodland area, I want to thank all of the mothers and students who participated in this year's march. The drive was very successful in the area, and the businesses of Sandy were a big help with their enthusiasm and support.

The grade school children saw the March of Dimes film "Keep on Walking" and they all loved it. The Welches grade school children are having class competition to see which class can come up with the most money for the fight against birth defects. The winning class will be awarded an extra field trip this year.

To the Editor:

In regards to the matter concerning the Sandy Grade School Administration and Dave Park (see Jan. 25, 1973 letter to the Editor) we as parents of a child in the Sandy Grade School would like to express our disappointment and objection.

Judging persons by their outward appearance is not only morally unsound but can result in profound misconceptions. Mr. Park not only has a calm disciplined manner with children but has training and experience in education that most voluntary workers and many educators have not had the opportunity to receive. (He has a BA from the University of California at Santa Barbara, which included one year at the University of Madrid, a MA from the University of Oregon,

Mt. Hood architecture acclaimed

Mt. Hood Community College's Academic Center-Library complex has been cited among the most noteworthy, recently completed architectural work on college and university campuses across the nation.

The Mt. Hood project was the only Pacific Northwest entry in the publication, "Campus Buildings That Work," sponsored by the Association of University Architects.

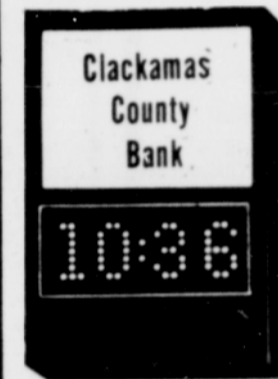

Lutes & Amundson, Springfield architectural firm handling the MHCC project, was the only local architectural firm represented.

Unique aspects of design include protection from extreme weather conditions experienced on the site, and recognition of the varied types of education activities making up the community college program.
