

Luncheon to discuss Eckankar

The public is invited to a special luncheon and program about Eckankar.

Luncheon will be from 12:00-1:30 p.m., Saturday, April 21 at Greenbrook Recreation Hall, 200 SW Florence in Gresham. (Take SE Powell 8 blocks west of City Hall.)

A varied, Eck-inspired program of music, poetry, art and talks will follow the luncheon.

This is an excellent opportunity to learn about Eckankar, The Ancient Science of Soul Travel, and to meet with Eckists of the area.

Afternoon ceremony unites Krebs-Hoeth

Lorelei Dawn Hoeth carried her grandmothers lace handkerchief at her marriage to Ronald Dale Krebs, Saturday, March 24, at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Sandy.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Sandy High, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Hoeth of Sandy. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald G. Krebs, also of Sandy, are the parents of the groom, who graduated from Sandy High in 1969.

Baskets of pink and lavender spring flowers, and an altar bouquet of the same, decorated the church for the afternoon ceremony.

The Rev. Frank Koepke performed the double-ring service. Mrs. Frank Koepke was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Fuerstenau. The former Lorelei Dawn Hoeth, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length empire gown of white peau-de-soie. It was styled with an organza overlay, and trimmed with Chantilly lace. Her full-length illusion veil was bordered with the same Chantilly lace.

The bride's ensemble was complemented by her mother's pearl necklace. She carried a nosegay of pink and lavender flowers, as well as her grandmother's handkerchief.

Carol Hoeth served as maid of honor for her sister. She wore an empire gown of pink organza, and a crown of flowers attached to a pink veil. She carried a single pink rose with baby's breath.

Another sister of the bride, Dawn Hoeth, was the bridesmaid. She was attired in an identical gown of lavender organza, with a lavender veil.

The groom wore a white dinner jacket, trimmed with black lapels, over a pink ruffled shirt. A black bow tie, and pink carnation in his lapel, completed his ensemble.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD DALE KREBS
(Lorelei Dawn Hoeth)

The best man, Ed Hanning of Sandy, was similarly attired, as were ushers Clyde Jennings and David Fuerstenau of Portland.

Approximately 200 wedding guests attended the reception, which followed in the church.

Assisting at the reception were Twila Jennings, Fay Lake, Rose Wilford, Becky Flath, Kathy Erickson, and Marsha Williams.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Leonard Laffie of Humboldt, Wisconsin.

The bride wore a cocoa-brown dress and coat costume for the couple's wedding trip to Seattle.

The newlyweds are now at home in Sandy. The groom, who attended Mt. Hood Community College, is employed by Portland General Electric. Mrs. Krebs now attends the Portland Adventist Hospital School of Practical Nursing.

AT SANDY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Easter is almost here and Mrs. Judy Warren's room is busy making favors for the nursing home. Tom Rutledge's mother came to school and helped us make the bunnies out of our milk cartons. Jo Tuttle, Cindy's mother, brought some blown out eggs that she had decorated. They are beautiful. Mrs. Tuttle also helps us with music, and she is teaching us to use the rhythm instruments.

Mrs. Smith's second grade: We want to thank all the parents and friends who came to visit our room the night of Open House.

We are sorry that our Cadet Teacher, Darlene Ashenbacher, can not come to work in our room now. She was with us for 18 weeks, and we all enjoyed her help very much.

Michelle Harmon moved to Pineville to live. She lived there before coming to Sandy. We have been collecting some smooth stones from which we hope to make rabbits.

In music we talked about how we could make some instruments. Elizabeth Heckel made a guitar, Teresa Hunter made a tambourine, and Jeff Bourgo made a rhythm instrument with two cans filled with rocks.

Mrs. Jensen's first grade: Geri Ann Meligan and Timmy Gibbons have enjoyed the company of our new class pet over the last two weekends. Our pet is a hamster called Puffet and was given to us by Mindy Ferguson.

Everyone agrees that cooking at school is fun, especially when you get to eat the cookies you make.

On one of those beautiful spring days last week the first graders took a walk and found a sackful of signs of the season.

In last week's paper the credit for the article about the 8th grade masquerade party was given to Shelly Lewis when it should have been Sarah Koepke. Sorry, Sarah!

When Miss Salisbury's pupils were studying measurement they made some delectable cookies, which they shared with Mrs. Richey when she went to Sandy Ridge for story-time. They also shared the recipe, which you might like to try.

Bar-A-Ranch Cookies
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup chopped dates
2 well beaten eggs. Cook over medium heat stirring continually for five minutes or until mixture pulls away from pan.

Add:
1 cup chopped walnuts
2 cups rice krispies
1 tsp. vanilla. Butter hands and form mixture into balls the size of a walnut. Roll in 1 1/2 cups coconut. Set aside to cool.

The 7th and 8th graders put on a very fine P.E. program with band accompaniment last Friday night. Both they and their instructors, Mrs. Cline, Mr. Blount, Mrs. Brisbin, and Mr. Dickson are to be congratulated on a job well done.

Thursday night, April 19, at 7:30 p.m. the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades will hold their annual Spring Concert in the upper grade gym.

Sandy Baptist slate choir, Easter service

Sandy Baptist Chapel will be the host for a traveling Youth Choir from North Valley Baptist Church, Redding, Cal. This Choir will present a concert at the church on Friday, April 20 at 7:30 p.m.

The Choir which consists of 32 young people, and is directed by Rev. Allen Livingstone will present approximately 45 minutes in sacred song and their Pastor, Rev. Royal Blue, will bring about 15 minutes message from the scripture. Everyone is invited to attend this special Good Friday Service. A nursery for children under 4 will be provided.

Other Easter activities at the chapel include a Special Sunday School Program

Sunday morning at 9:45. This will include songs, stories by the children of the Sunday School relating all the "new" things that Easter gives to us. This will also be the conclusion of the Sunday School contest and winners will be announced.

Sunday morning worship service will be held at 11:00 with special music being presented by "The Brotherhood" a male quartet from Multnomah School of the Bible.

The morning message will be "Divine Opening" given by Pastor Ed Grable. Children's Church will be held in the lower level for children 4-10 years of age and will include Easter music, an Easter story, and a special craft project. A nursery is open for children under 4.

Sunday evening service is held at 7 p.m. and is an informal time.

A cordial invitation is given to all to attend each one of our services.

Jaycees sponsor egg hunt

Does anybody remember Harvey (appointed "1973 Easter Egg Bunny"), the 6' 2" Pookah that followed Jimmy Stewart to bars and rest homes? If not, then bring your kids to the Sandy Union High School football field Saturday 10:30 a.m. Harvey probably won't be there, but he will have left over a thousand eggs scattered about the field for his little friends to find.

The Sandy-Hoodland Jaycees, with the help of the Sandy area Chamber of Commerce, have purchased the eggs and Stan Bowman has volunteered the help of his Special Education Department to boil and color the eggs.

Parm Berg, branch manager of Oregon Trail Savings and Loan, has given some chocolate bunnies for prizes, and Linda Baker, also of Oregon Trail, has donated several large plastic eggs which, when turned in will make the finder eligible to receive one of the prizes.

Parents are reminded to have their kids bring a bag or basket to carry the eggs home in. The seekers of Harvey's gifts will be divided into two groups: one of those 2-5 years and one for those 6-8 years.
