The Boring student is a 1973 Graduate of Oregon State University with a Bachelor degree in mathematics.

National college board reelects Sedley Stuart

Mt. Hood Community College board member Sedley N. Stuart has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges (AACJC). Stuart, co-owner of Stamm & Stuart Insurance, Portland, just completed a one-year directorship on the AACJC board.

An original member of the Mt. Hood board of education, Stuart served as its chairman in 1967-68. He's had an illustrious career in Oregon education circles including being named Oregon Education Citizen of the Year in 1966. Among other accomplishments are: past president of the Oregon School Boards Association; past president of the Multnomah County School Boards Association; past chairman of the David Douglas High School board; and member of the National Committee of Public Schools. Some 724 two-year colleges are represented under the umbrella of the AACJC. Edmund J. Gleazer, Jr. is president of the association. Stuart is the lone director from Oregon and one of only six from the West Coast. The AACJC was organized in 1920 to provide national professional leadership and direction for the then fledgling "junior college movement." Known for many years as the American Association of Junior Colleges, the organization changed its name in 1972 recognizing community colleges in its title. Mt. Hood president, Dr. Earl L. Klapstein, is a past director of the AACJC.

Today, community and junior colleges enroll nearly three million students. "In many states where the community college movement has become highly developed, more than half of all students entering higher education start in these local institutions," AACJC president Gleazer noted. He goes on to add, "These institutions are people's colleges, or democracy's colleges, and...they've earned these labels by providing varied curriculums, both academic and job oriented, and by keeping direct costs to students at a minimum."

MT. HOOD board member Sedley Stuart has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges.

Arson suspected

Barton Rodom, 2915 SE 1st, Gresham, reported an apparent case of arson in a blaze on his boat the evening of June 17, according to sheriff's reports.

The boat was stored on a lot at 9932 SE Ash in Portland when the fire broke out. Damage was estimated at $1,700.

A suspect was reported seen fleeing the scene shortly after the fire broke out, the report states.

Hurn gives invocation

The Rev. William Hurn of Fairview recently attended the Oregon Senate and gave the invocation at the beginning of a daily session.

He was invited to do this in his capacity as an Air National Guard chaplain. He presently serves as chaplain of the 142nd flight group, Portland International Airport. While visiting the Statehouse, he had a chance to visit with Rep. Glenn Otto and Senators Lynn Newbry and Wallace Carson. The Rev. Hurn was in Army basic training at Camp Roberts, Calif., with Sen. Newbry in 1943, and serves in the National Guard at the present time with Sen. Carson.

There were 2,354,900 new housing starts in the U.S. in 1972.

TAKE YOUR SIGNALS FROM GOD.

Every moment of the day He's giving them to you. Telling you the right thing to think and do... the thing that will bless you, and everyone. You can learn to trust His guidance. Try coming to our church service this Sunday. Listening to the Bible Lesson, you not only begin to get a better understanding of the Bible, but your spiritual sense is alerted, letting you hear and see God's signals more clearly. "And thine ears shall hear a word... This is the way, walk ye in it..." Isaiah 30:21
