NATIONAL HOME WEEK

SEPT. 9-16

Forecast for '74

"The home of today lacks a total integral design." But the good news for tomorrow is that architects, interior designers and landscape architects are now beginning to work together to create more environmental ideas for the home.

"This year the vogue in home furnishings is the natural look. Inspired by the ecology movement, decorators are using natural fabrics, natural textures, and natural colors to bring people into closer harmony with their environment."
