

Nell's Notes By NELL HOWE

Congratulations to Sandra Brewer and Wayne Reffett on their marriage in Sparks, Nev., on Nov. 24.

Alyce Spath, Audrey Williams, Sharon and Pat Waite and daughter Lisa, all went down to the wedding from here.

Alyce reported that there were only a few things that went wrong. This included all 12 of the folk staying at Pat and Eastel's coming down with intestinal flue at the same time.

However, they all made it to the church.

Of course, the groom almost passed out during the services, but managed to make it through. The florist was late with the flowers, but then the minister was also late, so they got there in time. In spite of all the problems, it was a lovely wedding. Sandy and Wayne are at home in Molalla.

Got a card from my cousin, who is a tour guide, that someone from the Wemme area was on a tour of the Orient this summer in one of her tours. Would like to know who it was.

Anyhow, her name is Marj Walker, and she is quite a gal. Would love to be on one of her tours myself. Haven't seen our cousin for over three years, and always love to hear from someone who was fortunate to have met her.

Believe it or not, I plan to start my Christmas shopping this week. That will be about two weeks early for me. Now if I could just get to the Christmas cards, and the packages to be mailed, it would be great. How are the rest of you folk doing? Better, I hope.

Wood haulers need permits

If you have a pickup and plan to use it this winter to haul your own wood, you could get a ticket for not having a truck license, the Oregon Motor Vehicles Division warned.

Pickups used for non-commercial purposes are licensed in Oregon as passenger vehicles and cannot exceed 6,000 pounds in combined weight of the unit and load.

Owners who want to use their pickups to haul wood can avoid the risk of a ticket for no truck license if the load of wood brings the weight over 6,000 pounds by obtaining a trip permit from the Motor Vehicles Division that will allow them to exceed the weight limit, or by licensing the unit as a truck.

For most people who plan to haul a few loads of wood over a weekend, the division says a trip permit would be more practical. The trip permit costs $5 and is valid for five days. The fee, the division pointed out, is about five times cheaper than a ticket for not having a truck license.
