

'Fascinating Womanhood' course offered in Sandy

A week long seminar in "Fascinating Womanhood," a marriage enrichment and self-improvement program for women, will begin Sunday, March 16, at Sandy Adventist Community Center.

Some seminar topics include: How to understand men; how to accept a man at face value; how to admire a man; how to understand male pride; man's role woman's role; femininity, and the "ideal woman" from a man's point of view.

Sandy GS hosts sing fest

Sandy Grade School will host a choral festival Thursday, March 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the upper grade gym.

Participating will be Sandy, Cottrell, and Damascus choral ensembles, who will sing selections together and separately.

The public is invited, and there is no admission charge.

MHCC board race May 6

An election will be held May 6 for two positions on the Mt. Hood Community College District board. Potential candidates for zone five and the "at large" position should contact the college business office or County Division of Elections for petitions and information.

Benefit auction Friday for restorative program

Television star Robert Colbert, a former Gresham resident, will be featured guest at a benefit auction Friday for a pilot restorative patient program in East Multnomah County.

Doors open at 6 p.m. and the auction begins at 7 at St. Henry Parish Hall, 346 NW 1st St., Gresham.

Proceeds from the benefit will go toward purchase of equipment for a restorative program at Colbert Nursing Home in Gresham. The new program, originally initiated by the state Welfare Department, is a non-profit enterprise.

The state pays the usual per diem cost of welfare patients taking part in the program. Equipment must come from another source and thus the auction.

Colbert's pays the salary of the restorative technician, not the State Welfare Department, as was reported in last week's Outlook.

The program is open to both private and welfare patients. Present federal guidelines require that nursing homes that accept patients who can be

News and Views About Mt. Hood Community College

by Jim Hilden

Coordinator of College Information

What do the stars say about you? Most of us read the astrological column in the paper and if it is appropriate we say something like "hmm-mm," but if it's wrong we didn't believe in that stuff anyway.

Now budding astrology buffs can gaze into the stars' relationship with their lives, and others. In cooperation with Mt. Hood Community College, Parkrose High School will host an astrology course Monday evenings starting March 31.

Ned Johnson, instructor, says there's no "hocus pocus." It's a practical approach for the individual. Maybe there is more to it than we realize.

On the subject of classes, registration is under way for spring term. In addition to the usual lower division transfer and vocational-technical classes, numerous enrichment and community service classes will be available.

Sam Barlow is hosting glasscraft, regional botany, and ceramics to name a few. Believe it or not, Centennial will hold a clown arts class taught by Charles Patton, a certified clown and graduate of Ringling Brothers Clown College.

Jane Abbott, MHCC home management expert, also notes some very interesting courses lined up this spring. One includes "for bachelors only." The spring "After Six" is in the mail and should be on the doorstep soon.

Another word on the upcoming election of two board positions should be mentioned. The chairs presently held by Bob Davis, board chairman, and Dr. George Casterline, vice-chairman, are up for election May 6. Persons seeking to run against the incumbent should be aware that the filing deadline is 5 p.m. April 1.

Opening upcoming on fire board

Anyone living inside the Sandy Fire District is eligible to run for a four year fire board position this spring.

Applications may be picked up at the Sandy Fire Department or through the Clackamas County Election's office.

Tom Day's spot on the five man fire board, position number three, expires this spring. Day will seek reelection.

Interested persons must either turn in a petition with 25 names of registered voters or declare a candidacy and pay a fee through the county by April 1.

Bankruptcy

Merle Dean and Teresa Karole Spriggs of 21546 SE Oak, Troutdale, have been adjudged bankrupt on petitions filed by them March 6 in U.S. District Court.
