de Boer-Pugh wedding held

Susan Marie Pugh and Raymond Lee de Boer were married July 19 in a 2 p.m. ceremony at Rockwood Methodist Church.

Steve Nesheim was soloist, and Jean Hobbs organist for the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Pugh, 18526 SE Caruthers. Mr. and Mrs. Fred de Boer, 12012 SE 312th Ave., Boring are the bridegroom's parents.

The new Mrs. de Boer wore a gown of sheer organza over crepe for her wedding. The dress was made in empire style with the yoke and long sleeves trimmed with lace and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil had matching trim. The bridal bouquet was made from white daisies, pink roses and baby's-breath.

Kathy Ellis of Portland was matron of honor. Karen Smith and Karen de Boer, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, were bridesmaids.

The attendants' gowns were empire style in flowered pink print. Their bouquets matched that of the bride's.

Richard Moccardine of Portland was best man. John Williams of Gresham and Jim de Boer, the bridegroom's brother, ushered.

A reception for approximately 100 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Marie McLaughlin and Mrs. Julian Ceniga of Vale, Ore., and Mrs. Shedro Ceniga of Ontario, Ore., the bride's aunts, assisted.

Karen Pugh of Sandy was at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Lincoln City, the couple is at home in Rockwood.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Centennial High School and attended Mt. Hood Community College. She is employed by Portland General Electric Company in Gresham.

The bridegroom was graduated from Sam Barlow High School in 1970 and also attended Mt. Hood Community College. He is employed by Amiton Furniture.

Community agencies to receive funds

Over $190,000 in grants has been awarded to community services programs in Oregon by the U.S. Community Services Administration, U.S. Rep. Bob Duncan announced this week.

The Multnomah County Community Action Agency received $62,500 to provide services through three neighborhood centers for three months which began July 1. Services offered include information and referral service, community classes, emergency food and clothing, counseling, and home maintenance for the elderly.

The Clackamas County Community Action Agency will receive $39,000 for a three month program which began July 1 to complete the integration of human services delivery to the poor into a comprehensive, countywide system.

An additional $88,751 was awarded to the Oregon State Services program located in Salem, to assist community action agencies statewide in identifying and eliminating their technical assistance needs.

Clackamas College offers counseling

Placement tests for persons planning to enroll at Clackamas Community College are being offered this summer in the college's counseling offices from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Counselors are available to help persons interested in exploring educational and career opportunities.

Assistance is also available for persons beginning to plan study programs and wishing to make application fall quarter classes, says Art Hames, director of counseling.

Further information about summer counseling services is available from Clackamas Community College by calling 656-2631.

Extension begins 'Dial-An-Answer'

More information for the learning gardener and homemaker became available last week with the operation of "Dial-An-Answer" for residents of the Portland metropolitan area.

The system, initiated by the extension service of Oregon State University, features instructions and answers for common house and garden questions delivered by telephones fitted with special equipment for playing prerecorded tapes.

Oregon State University specialists and other recognized authorities deliver the instructions to the caller who dials the Portland number and asked for a subject by it's file number.

The system, according to Wilbur W. Burkhart, extension agent, operates during the afternoon, Monday through Friday, 1 to 5 p.m.

More than 500 subjects covering canning, drying, freezing, gardening, house plants, insects and diseases will be listed when the tape library is complete.

Copies of lists showing subjects and tape file numbers are available without charge. Address all requests to "Dial-An-Answer", 049 S.W. Porter, RIC, Room B3, Portland.
