

Double-decker bus prompts double take

y Douglas Gantenbein

Sandy motorists eastbound on Pioneer Boulevard last week may have taken a double take the sight of a bus parked next Sharon's Food King. A bus? So what? Well, nothing except that this is no ordinary metro bus but real, bona fide English double-decker. That's right, two decks, until 'em. The bus is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs.

Walter Forberg of Corbett and their two children, Hope and Ron. No longer used to carry passengers, the bus is now used to transport Christian books and supplies to rural regions. The bus is the brainchild of son Ron, who got the idea while working in Europe with a Christian organization called "Operation Mobilization." While there he spent time aboard a ship run by the organization which carried both religious and relief books to far flung areas. So how's business been here in Sandy? Not real great, says Hope Forberg, "but not too bad. This is the nearest we've ever been to Portland, and they have a lot of Christian book stores there. Our main focus is the rural areas." The Forbergs, who along with their bus normally reside in Corbett, have been in the mobile book business now for a year and one-half.

"YE OLD London Bus," a mobile Christian bookstore, was on Pioneer Boulevard in Sandy last week.

4-Hers to 'rock' for fund raiser

The Sandy Ridge Riders 4-H Horse Club is going to "rock" for funds Saturday, May 14, at the Masonic Hall in Sandy. From 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. the Ridge Riders will be riding high in—you guessed it—rocking chairs to help raise money for 4-H. The public is invited to watch the Ridge Riders Rock, and club members will be on hand to sign up sponsors or take pledges.

Board reset

The adjourned meeting of the Sandy Elementary School Board originally scheduled for April 20 has been postponed until April 26. A tentative agenda includes a discussion of election results, city-district recreation agreements, and possible teacher vacancies. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the upper elementary library.

Speed limit reduced

By Sue Lafky
Sandy Post editor

The speed limit through Sandy's downtown area will soon be 25 miles per hour instead of the present 30 miles per hour (mph) zone, the Sandy City Council was told Monday.

The City Council had asked the State Speed Control board to reduce speeds on Proctor and Pioneer to 20 mph.

Sandy City Manager Paul Helton said the new speed will automatically go into effect in the middle of May unless the city challenges the reduced speed.

The Council held two public hearings on ordinances at the Monday meeting. One ordinance which was unanimously approved, will make reimbursement of sewer construction costs for developers permissive instead of mandatory. No opposition was voiced on that proposal.

Sandy resident Jerry Lawson spoke against a proposed ordinance to increase the width of minor streets within subdivisions to 34 feet, citing extra costs to homeowners. Lawson also said that wider streets wouldn't necessarily be safer streets, and suggested that the city investigate putting speed bumps in some area of the city where the children are likely to interfere with the traffic flow.

In other business, the Council reappointed Jim Wagner and Ken Lundgren to terms on the Design Review Board.

The Council went on record in support of the annexation of 35 acres owned by Frank Moore. The property is located west of the City Public Works Department. Moore's annexation request is expected to go before the Metropolitan Boundary Commission in May.

The Council denied a request for a sewer connection for property owned by Elman Peterson. The Council indicated that the denial was based on previously established precedence.

At the suggestion of Councilman Bruce Cook, the Council decided to write a letter to the Public Employee Retirement System (PERS) protesting that system's method of investment.

If the PERS continued its present rates, it would have a $644 million deficit by 1985 according to actual studies by independent firms.

Right now, 6.56 per cent of a city employee's gross pay is contributed by the city to the PERS. The rate is scheduled to increase to 11.12 per cent by 1981 to offset the anticipated deficit.

The council also discussed a definition of "abandoned water connections" for writing a revision of a city ordinance.

Thinking thin after holiday feasting can be easy... and delicious... when you think cottage cheese, yogurt and buttermilk! These "slenderizing" dairy products help you reduce sensibly on a diet of low-calorie, high-energy foods that are packed with nutrients because they're all made from "Milk, the beautiful food."

Every good cook knows that cottage cheese, yogurt and buttermilk add rich flavor and nutrition to favorite recipes. Calorie-conscious cooks need only to use our trio of low-calorie dairy products and a little imagination to create a variety of slimming main dishes, beverages, salads, dips and even desserts. To get you started thinking and eating slim, enjoy these tempting low-cal recipes below:

Pineapple Cooler

- 2 cups buttermilk
- 2 cups canned pineapple juice
- 2 teaspoons sugar

Combine buttermilk, sugar and pineapple juice. Add additional sugar to taste. Chill thoroughly. Serve garnished with a sprig of mint. Makes 4 servings. 123 calories per serving.

Deviled Cottage Dip

- 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
- 1 can (2 1/4 oz.) deviled ham
- 2 tablespoons sliced green onions OR
- 1/2 teaspoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon paprika

Beat together cottage cheese, ham, onion and paprika until fairly smooth. Chill. Serve with vegetable dippers. Yield: 1 1/4 cups. 16 calories per tablespoon.

Shrimp Stroganoff

- Saucepan, 1 1/2 quart
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon dill weed
- 1 cup water
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 can (2 oz.) sliced mushrooms
- 2 cups cooked shrimp
- 1 cup plain yogurt

In saucepan melt butter; add onion and cook until tender. Stir in flour and dill weed. Gradually add water, then bouillon cube and mushrooms with liquid. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add shrimp and heat 5 minutes. Stir in yogurt; heat to serving temperature. Serve over asparagus spears. Makes 8 servings. 101 calories per 1/2 cup stroganoff.
