rope donkeys; Lucille Steen, with stuffed animals, baby quilts and tooth fairy pillows; Darlene Sandstedt, with puppets, jewelry and spinning; Mike Taylor, with wooden outdoor furniture; and Herb Fenwick's woodcarving.

This year's festival has also attracted artisans from other parts of Oregon and Washington.

Alan Root, a blacksmith from Mosier, will be selling creative furniture, fire tending tools and pot and pan racks.

Warren Page of Cle Elum, Wash., will show hand-molded mushroom candles, sand cast candles and candle planters. Harvey and Lu Springer will come from Colton to sell ceramics and sea shell art. Earl and Margie Moxley will bring doll furniture, tole painting and jewelry boxes from Tigard.

"I can start to feel the anticipation in the park," Mrs. Ellis said. "After the festival in August it's still lovely; but somehow it's like it has gone to sleep."

Sterling jewelry

CLOISONNE BOXES and sterling and gold jewelry will be displayed by Sandy artist Sheri Davidson at the Sandy Mountain Festival.
