

Mountain Days had wide variety

(ABOVE) One of the more popular events of the festival was the arm-wrestling competition which featured men, women and a few youngsters competing in separate weight classes.

(RIGHT) James (Wishbone) Bones of Estacada fires a volley in the Black Powder Shoot. Using a flintlock rifle, Wishbone scored enough points to take second place prize of a carved statue.

(LEFT) The kids got into the act as well at the Sandy Mountain Festival. Here two racers approach the finish line in one of the several contests held at the Bicycle Races on the elementary school track.
