

Book sale money goes to community pool fund

The Watch Our Waves (WOW) group in Estacada is joining in with Timber Festival activities by continuing with a booksale of used books at the Estacada Sears store.

The group, raising funds to finance a community swimming pool in Estacada, has come up with about $800 so far.

WOW is accepting donations of used books for the sale which has been going on for the last few months and will continue after the festival is over.

A wide variety of subjects, including fiction, mystery, and children's books are on hand. The selection includes hardback and paperback books.

A recent donation of 200 assorted jigsaw puzzles will also go on sale during the festival for 25 cents each.

Pat Denney, Linda Just and Marjorie Erickson of WOW will be sales clerks for the booksale.

The Sears store is located on Main St. in Estacada.

LINDA JUST, left, and Pat Denney, right, sort through dozens of books to be sold during the Watch Our Waves book sale at the sidewalk sale Timber Festival weekend. The group is raising money for a community swimming pool by selling donated books as one of their fund raising projects. The sale is at the Sears store in Estacada and will continue after the Timber Festival.

Staff photo by Kim Smith

Remember Len's Rigging Shop

Your chain saw dealer for

Homelite
Husqvarna
Jonsereds

Complete rigging loft for loggers and contractors

McWhyte Wire Rope

Complete Professional Repair Service

OPEN Monday thru Saturday

Good luck to all the 1978 Timber Festival competitors! See you at the Festival!

Rt. 1 Box 177 Eagle Creek
637-3036