

Keeping Posted

SATURDAY, SEPT. 2
The Clackamas County Library Bookmobile will be at the Zigzag Inn from 9:30-11:30 a.m., at the Aims Community Church from 12:15-1:30 p.m., and at Dodge Park from 2-4 p.m.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 5
The Sandy City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 6
The Clackamas County Library Bookmobile will be at the Government Camp Post Office from 10-11:30 a.m., at the Sentry Market in Rhododendron from 12-1:30 p.m., and at the Lion's Club in Wemme from 2-4 p.m.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 7
The Clackamas County Library Bookmobile will be at Firwood School from 9:30-11 a.m., at the Brightwood Store from 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., and at the Hoodland Plaza in Welches from 2-4 p.m.

Professional Women's dinner meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at TJ's Restaurant. Guest speakers for the meeting are Dr. Jack Peters and Dr. Ruth McFarland.

Peters is Sandy Union High School's superintendent and McFarland is a former English professor at Mt. Hood Community College and a candidate for state superintendent of education. The discussion will center on the high school's fall term and the Sept. 19 election. Reservations should be telephoned to 668-4849, 668-6691 or 668-4064 by Sept. 4.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 7
The Clackamas County Library Bookmobile will be at Firwood School from 9:30-11 a.m., at the Brightwood Store from 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., and at the Hoodland Plaza in Welches from 2-4 p.m.

Dr. Robert D. Schouten Optometrist

Announces the relocation of his office to:
CEDAR PLAZA BUILDING
39400 Pioneer, Sandy, OR

* Vision Examinations * Prescriptions Filled
 Fashion Frames & Tinted Lenses
* Contact Lenses: Hard & Soft

PHONE 668-4313 or 668-7143

Tofu Block 49¢
* REG. 65¢ VALUE

Campbell's Soup
* LOW SODIUM

* 7 1/2 oz. cans
* 7 different kinds

36¢
- CAN -
Reg. 48¢ Value

Phone: 668-8281
9:30 - 6:30 Mon.-Fri.
Open Saturdays 9:30 - 6 p.m.

Health House
Sandy's new Frontier
Bldg. in Heritage Square

Sublimity Festival set

A Salem-area event which draws about 10,000 people each year is scheduled for Friday through Sunday, Sept. 8-10. Known as the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull, the event is open to participants from across the state.

According to Jim Heater, general chairman, two new events have been added to the festival this year. The Road Run, open to contestants of all ages, will be at 10 a.m. Sunday. It features a two mile run and a six mile run. Entrants should meet at Sublimity Grade School at 10 a.m. to post their entry fee. The other event is a Youth Tractor Driving Rodeo scheduled for Saturday. This will enable young "farmers" to test their driving skill on a specially designed course. Entrants should meet at the tractor pull in Sublimity area by 1 p.m.

One of the main features each year is the tractor pull which will begin at noon on Sunday. Everything from small two-wheel models to the giant four-wheel drive tractors compete in division according to tractor weight. Weigh-in is from 8-11 a.m. at Tony Hendricks' farm near Sublimity.

Other activities of the three-day festival are centered in the City Park and include a beer garden, craft and concession booths, and other contests. Funds raised from the festival go towards many community activities. Last year, it contributed a CPR "dummy" of the Sublimity Fire Department, donated special equipment for a van for the Marion Nursing Home, and built a water fountain in the Sublimity City Park.

For more information about the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull, call 769-7127.

Community Schools will be offering classes this fall, but the program will be cut back approximately 60 percent over previous years, according to Director Judy Sheppard.

Community Schools has generally offered 50 classes per term in the past, but due to budgeting cutbacks stemming from Mt. Hood Community College's partial withdrawal of sponsorship, there will only be around 20 classes offered this fall. "We tried to maintain a pretty broad range in our program," Sheppard said. The curriculum was broken down into eight basic areas and some classes were retained in each of the eight to give the most complete service possible to the community," she explained. The eight categories are: classes for youngsters, educational classes, community services, arts, physical programs, social classes, crafts and miscellaneous.

The tentative fall schedule by children will include Silver Threads, after school crafts, pre-school co-op, toddler time-babysitting co-op and drama.

Educational courses will be offered in psychology which Sheppard described as an assertiveness or communication skills course, and in the international language, Esperanto.

The fall term community services class will be hunter safety. The courses offered in the arts program are drama, painting and ballet.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Since Stevens' comments were the only testimony at a public hearing, the Planning Commission delayed a decision until Sept. 25. Commission members want to discuss the proposal with the Board of Adjustment and to hear from citizens and property owners.

Letters from interested persons should be addressed to the Clackamas County Planning Commission, Planning Department, 940 Warner, Milne Road, Oregon City, Ore. 97045.

The planning commission expressed appreciation for the board's approach, but according to Stevenson they were concerned about consistent decisions from a

Hazel Stevens, a veteran member of the Board of Adjustment, told the planning commission last week that the five-member Board of Adjustment is opposed to the proposed change.

The Board of Adjustment is a citizens' volunteer body which reviews variances to zoning ordinances and requests for temporary permits.

The county planning commission is considering a change in county ordinances which would transfer many of the Board of Adjustment's responsibilities to the Hearings Officer.

These duties include consideration of requests for temporary mobile home permits and of variances from required lot sizes, street frontage and similar requests.

Planning Commission Chairman Rich Ares said last week, "The advantages of the new procedure might be greater consistency in decisions, faster service to property owners and combining several application requests into a single hearing."

Debates on the proposal appears to center on the relative advantages of decisions by a volunteer citizens group vs. a paid professional.

"The planning commission is considering a number of questions," Stevenson said. "Is the value of citizens' judgement outweighed by the legal and technical exposed in the City Park and include a beer garden, craft and concession booths, and other contests. Funds raised from the festival go towards many community activities. Last year, it contributed a CPR "dummy" of the Sublimity Fire Department, donated special equipment for a van for the Marion Nursing Home, and built a water fountain in the Sublimity City Park.

For more information about the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull, call 769-7127.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Decision delayed on future of Board of Adjustment

Clackamas County's Board of Adjustment may go out of business soon, according to Ardis Stevenson, coordinator for the Department of Environmental Services.

The Board of Adjustment is a citizens' volunteer body which reviews variances to zoning ordinances and requests for temporary permits.

The county planning commission is considering a change in county ordinances which would transfer many of the Board of Adjustment's responsibilities to the Hearings Officer.

These duties include consideration of requests for temporary mobile home permits and of variances from required lot sizes, street frontage and similar requests.

Planning Commission Chairman Rich Ares said last week, "The advantages of the new procedure might be greater consistency in decisions, faster service to property owners and combining several application requests into a single hearing."

Debates on the proposal appears to center on the relative advantages of decisions by a volunteer citizens group vs. a paid professional.

"The planning commission is considering a number of questions," Stevenson said. "Is the value of citizens' judgement outweighed by the legal and technical exposed in the City Park and include a beer garden, craft and concession booths, and other contests. Funds raised from the festival go towards many community activities. Last year, it contributed a CPR "dummy" of the Sublimity Fire Department, donated special equipment for a van for the Marion Nursing Home, and built a water fountain in the Sublimity City Park.

For more information about the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull, call 769-7127.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Since Stevens' comments were the only testimony at a public hearing, the Planning Commission delayed a decision until Sept. 25. Commission members want to discuss the proposal with the Board of Adjustment and to hear from citizens and property owners.

Letters from interested persons should be addressed to the Clackamas County Planning Commission, Planning Department, 940 Warner, Milne Road, Oregon City, Ore. 97045.

The planning commission expressed appreciation for the board's approach, but according to Stevenson they were concerned about consistent decisions from a

Hazel Stevens, a veteran member of the Board of Adjustment, told the planning commission last week that the five-member Board of Adjustment is opposed to the proposed change.

The Board of Adjustment is a citizens' volunteer body which reviews variances to zoning ordinances and requests for temporary permits.

The county planning commission is considering a change in county ordinances which would transfer many of the Board of Adjustment's responsibilities to the Hearings Officer.

These duties include consideration of requests for temporary mobile home permits and of variances from required lot sizes, street frontage and similar requests.

Planning Commission Chairman Rich Ares said last week, "The advantages of the new procedure might be greater consistency in decisions, faster service to property owners and combining several application requests into a single hearing."

Debates on the proposal appears to center on the relative advantages of decisions by a volunteer citizens group vs. a paid professional.

"The planning commission is considering a number of questions," Stevenson said. "Is the value of citizens' judgement outweighed by the legal and technical exposed in the City Park and include a beer garden, craft and concession booths, and other contests. Funds raised from the festival go towards many community activities. Last year, it contributed a CPR "dummy" of the Sublimity Fire Department, donated special equipment for a van for the Marion Nursing Home, and built a water fountain in the Sublimity City Park.

For more information about the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull, call 769-7127.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Classified Business, Professional Directory

For Your Card In This DIRECTORY — Phone 668-5548

FURNITURE

New and Used
B & B EMPORIUM
Unfinished Furniture
"The Everything Store"
38888 Pioneer, Sandy 668-5448

REMODELING

C&L Remodeling Specialists
Residential-Commercial-Remodeling-Additions-Kitchens-Baths
Lee Edgren - Clark Hall "Licensed Bonded"
Sandy 668-7491

FURNACES

CROWN FURNACE
Furnace - Air Conditioning
Heating & Refrigeration Service
Phone 668-5454 or 622-4575
39090 Pioneer Blvd., PO Box 593, Sandy, Ore.

MACHINERY

BERGH MACHINERY CO.
See Us for New Jacuzzi
Pumps and Repairs on all Makes of Pumps
Loop Hwy. & Boring Road, Gresham
Telephone: 663-4353

PUMP & SUPPLY

Fairbanks - Morse - Red Jacket
SALES and SERVICE
D & A PUMP & SUPPLY
666-2683 668-4902

PLUMBING

BENSHOOF
Plumbing & Heating
Sales, Service, Installation
Sandy 668-4993

AUTO PARTS

ACTION
Auto & Truck Parts Co.
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
39130 Proctor Blvd. 668-5509
(Next to Sandy Cycle) Sandy, Ore.

SAND and GRAVEL

ROCK CREEK SAND AND GRAVEL
Crushed Rock, Fill and Top Soil
658-3138

THIS SPACE FOR RENT
668-5548

CONCRETE READY MIX

MT. HOOD READY MIX
Ready Mix Concrete - Crushed Rock - Sand and Gravel
Phone 668-6515
Plant located at Firwood Junction

TAX CONSULTANT

ALLMAIN TAX SERVICE
Cedar Plaza Bldg. Suite No. 9
Bookkeeping & Income Taxes
Pickup & Delivery
668-8224

LAND SURVEYOR

MARX & CHASE
Registered Land Surveyor
Registered Land Surveyor - Surveying, Mapping, Subdivisions. Office located at 225 E. Burnside Ext. Gresham

AUTO REPAIRS

SANDY AUTO BODY INC.
38650 Pioneer Blvd. Telephone
Sandy, Oregon 97055 668-4175

TELEVISION SERVICE

Inland TV & Radio Service
Guaranteed Service CEDAR PLAZA No. 1
On All Makes LOWER LEVEL
668-7363 Carry-In Service

SHOE REPAIR

Joel Shekter
Sandy Shoe Repair
8:30-5 p.m. Tues.-Sat.
Meinig & Pioneer

PLUMBING

Walter Valitski Plumbing
13830 S.E. 322nd
Boring, Ore.
Walter Valitski
PHONE 668-5749

Fall and winter programs

Community Schools has fewer classes

Sandy's Community Schools will be offering classes this fall, but the program will be cut back approximately 60 percent over previous years, according to Director Judy Sheppard.

Community Schools has generally offered 50 classes per term in the past, but due to budgeting cutbacks stemming from Mt. Hood Community College's partial withdrawal of sponsorship, there will only be around 20 classes offered this fall.

"We tried to maintain a pretty broad range in our program," Sheppard said. The curriculum was broken down into eight basic areas and some classes were retained in each of the eight to give the most complete service possible to the community," she explained.

The eight categories are: classes for youngsters, educational classes, community services, arts, physical programs, social classes, crafts and miscellaneous.

"By cutting down the number of offerings within each category we hope to be able to serve the entire age spectrum," Sheppard commented. "We are trying to fill as many people's needs as possible in spite of our budget cutbacks."

The tentative fall schedule by children will include Silver Threads, after school crafts, pre-school co-op, toddler time-babysitting co-op and drama.

Educational courses will be offered in psychology which Sheppard described as an assertiveness or communication skills course, and in the international language, Esperanto.

The fall term community services class will be hunter safety. The courses offered in the arts program are drama, painting and ballet.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Since Stevens' comments were the only testimony at a public hearing, the Planning Commission delayed a decision until Sept. 25. Commission members want to discuss the proposal with the Board of Adjustment and to hear from citizens and property owners.

Letters from interested persons should be addressed to the Clackamas County Planning Commission, Planning Department, 940 Warner, Milne Road, Oregon City, Ore. 97045.

The planning commission expressed appreciation for the board's approach, but according to Stevenson they were concerned about consistent decisions from a

Hazel Stevens, a veteran member of the Board of Adjustment, told the planning commission last week that the five-member Board of Adjustment is opposed to the proposed change.

The Board of Adjustment is a citizens' volunteer body which reviews variances to zoning ordinances and requests for temporary permits.

The county planning commission is considering a change in county ordinances which would transfer many of the Board of Adjustment's responsibilities to the Hearings Officer.

These duties include consideration of requests for temporary mobile home permits and of variances from required lot sizes, street frontage and similar requests.

Planning Commission Chairman Rich Ares said last week, "The advantages of the new procedure might be greater consistency in decisions, faster service to property owners and combining several application requests into a single hearing."

Debates on the proposal appears to center on the relative advantages of decisions by a volunteer citizens group vs. a paid professional.

"The planning commission is considering a number of questions," Stevenson said. "Is the value of citizens' judgement outweighed by the legal and technical exposed in the City Park and include a beer garden, craft and concession booths, and other contests. Funds raised from the festival go towards many community activities. Last year, it contributed a CPR "dummy" of the Sublimity Fire Department, donated special equipment for a van for the Marion Nursing Home, and built a water fountain in the Sublimity City Park.

For more information about the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull, call 769-7127.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Since Stevens' comments were the only testimony at a public hearing, the Planning Commission delayed a decision until Sept. 25. Commission members want to discuss the proposal with the Board of Adjustment and to hear from citizens and property owners.

Letters from interested persons should be addressed to the Clackamas County Planning Commission, Planning Department, 940 Warner, Milne Road, Oregon City, Ore. 97045.

The planning commission expressed appreciation for the board's approach, but according to Stevenson they were concerned about consistent decisions from a

Hazel Stevens, a veteran member of the Board of Adjustment, told the planning commission last week that the five-member Board of Adjustment is opposed to the proposed change.

The Board of Adjustment is a citizens' volunteer body which reviews variances to zoning ordinances and requests for temporary permits.

The county planning commission is considering a change in county ordinances which would transfer many of the Board of Adjustment's responsibilities to the Hearings Officer.

These duties include consideration of requests for temporary mobile home permits and of variances from required lot sizes, street frontage and similar requests.

Planning Commission Chairman Rich Ares said last week, "The advantages of the new procedure might be greater consistency in decisions, faster service to property owners and combining several application requests into a single hearing."

Debates on the proposal appears to center on the relative advantages of decisions by a volunteer citizens group vs. a paid professional.

Sandy's Community Schools will be offering classes this fall, but the program will be cut back approximately 60 percent over previous years, according to Director Judy Sheppard.

Community Schools has generally offered 50 classes per term in the past, but due to budgeting cutbacks stemming from Mt. Hood Community College's partial withdrawal of sponsorship, there will only be around 20 classes offered this fall.

"We tried to maintain a pretty broad range in our program," Sheppard said. The curriculum was broken down into eight basic areas and some classes were retained in each of the eight to give the most complete service possible to the community," she explained.

The eight categories are: classes for youngsters, educational classes, community services, arts, physical programs, social classes, crafts and miscellaneous.

"By cutting down the number of offerings within each category we hope to be able to serve the entire age spectrum," Sheppard commented. "We are trying to fill as many people's needs as possible in spite of our budget cutbacks."

The tentative fall schedule by children will include Silver Threads, after school crafts, pre-school co-op, toddler time-babysitting co-op and drama.

Educational courses will be offered in psychology which Sheppard described as an assertiveness or communication skills course, and in the international language, Esperanto.

The fall term community services class will be hunter safety. The courses offered in the arts program are drama, painting and ballet.

Community Schools' physical education will include a morning exercise class for women, a belly dance, exercise course, a ladies' gym-and-swim variety exercise course, co-ed volleyball, open gym basketball, and ballet for adults.

Other classes to be held are bridge, macrame, vegetarian cooking and holiday breadmaking, cone wreath creations, Christmas swags and other holiday decorations and sewing for charity.

Information on classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Community Schools at 668-5744.

The schedule will not be mailed out this fall because of budget limitations. However, it will be printed in The Post when it is completed.

Since Stevens' comments were the only testimony at a public hearing, the Planning Commission delayed a decision until Sept. 25. Commission members want to discuss the proposal with the Board of Adjustment and to hear from citizens and property owners.

Letters from interested persons should be addressed to the Clackamas County Planning Commission, Planning Department, 940 Warner, Milne Road, Oregon City, Ore. 97045.

The planning commission expressed appreciation for the board's approach, but according to Stevenson they were concerned about consistent decisions from a

Hazel Stevens, a veteran member of the Board of Adjustment, told the planning commission last week that the five-member Board of Adjustment is opposed to the proposed change.

The Board of Adjustment is a citizens' volunteer body which reviews variances to zoning ordinances and requests for temporary permits.

The county planning commission is considering a change in county ordinances which would transfer many of the Board of Adjustment's responsibilities to the Hearings Officer.

These duties include consideration of requests for temporary mobile home permits and of variances from required lot sizes, street frontage and similar requests.

Planning Commission Chairman Rich Ares said last week, "The advantages of the new procedure might be greater consistency in decisions, faster service to property owners and combining several application requests into a single hearing."

Debates on the proposal appears to center on the relative advantages of decisions by a volunteer citizens group vs. a paid professional.

"The planning commission is considering a number of questions," Stevenson said. "Is the value of citizens' judgement outweighed by the legal and technical exposed in the City Park and include a beer garden, craft and concession booths, and other contests. Funds raised from the festival go towards many community activities. Last year, it contributed a CPR "dummy" of the Sublimity Fire Department, donated special equipment for a van for the Marion Nursing Home, and built a water fountain in the Sublimity City Park.

For more information about the Sublimity Harvest Festival and Tractor Pull