You gotta be kiddin'

A look of disbelief registered on the face of Bill Blackford when the referee signalled a takedown during the Sandy wrestler's match with Dale Karsmarsik of Rainier. Blackford lost a close 11-10 decision to the State All-Star during the State-Metro meet last Thursday at Lewis and Clark College. Blackford was wrestling at 157 pounds. His Sandy teammate, Rayth Buswell, also wrestled for the all-stars, pinning Lowell's Tim Brown in the third period of the 168-pound match.

For first Legion win

Sandy rally upends Scots 5-3

Last week the Sandy legion baseball team was the laughingstock of the league. This week the Pioneers are eying the playoffs.

As strange as it may seem, the Sandy nine are in good position to challenge for a playoff spot after winning their first game of the season Monday night.

Sandy dumped David Douglas 5-3 Monday to improve its record to 1-7. Normally, a 1-7 record wouldn't mean too much, but this year five of the seven teams advance to the playoffs. And after last week that one win looms pretty big.

The Pioneers were crushed by Parkrose last week 38-3. Following that were two other losses in which the Sandy squad gave up 15 runs or more. But things began to change last week, according to coach Curtis Heath.

"We've been going through a real learning experience," Heath said. "We've done some shakeups here and there with attitudes and I think we're starting to turn the corner.

"I don't know where the transformation came but we're really coming on now," Heath added.

The turnaround may have begun Friday when Sandy gave up four early runs to Centennial then battled the Eagles even the rest of the way in a 5-1 loss. Corey Loehr went the distance for the much-maligned Sandy pitching staff and "got the loss but threw effectively," Heath noted.

The corner was finally turned Monday when Sandy combined pitching and hitting for the first time this season. And David Douglas was the shocked loser.

Sandy picked up a pair of runs in the first inning when Doug Turin and Dalan Askew reached base on walks. The Pioneers executed a double steal and advanced the runners a base then John Martin boomed a triple to the power alley in right center to score them both and give Sandy a 2-0 lead.

The Scots came back in the second to pick up three big runs and take a one-run lead but for once, the Pioneers mounted a come-from-behind rally.

Tom Coutts started things off in the fourth when he hustled down to first base after the catcher dropped a third strike pitch. Rocky Selk rapped a single and Sandy had runners on first and second. They both advanced a base on a passed ball then Troy Bangs singled to score Coutts. Lee Godfrey then hit a fly ball to right field to score Selk.

Sandy picked up an insurance run in the sixth when Bangs doubles to left and scored on a Rick Fry triple to right center.

"We're starting to hit the ball and our pitching is buckling down," Heath said. "And we're doing things I haven't seen us do in a long time. Our bench is up yelling and were giving each other positive reinforcement.

"Rocky Selk went the distance against David Douglas and he did a really good job," Heath added. "He had good rhythm and good breaking stuff. That kid will really help us next year—he throws fire.

"We hit rock bottom before coming up," he said. "Hopefully, we'll look to the future now instead of behind us."

Hoop camp set for high school girls

The second annual Pioneer Girls Cage Camp for high school girls will begin Monday and run for a week (June 25-29).

Chris Knudsen, girls basketball coach at Sandy High School, will coordinate the camp. It will be open to any girl who will attend high school next year.

"The camp is looking real good," Knudsen said. "We'll be giving out a lot of awards and we have a lot of good speakers lined up."

The featured speaker will be Jeff Gray, girls basketball coach at LaSalle High School. Gray's teams are notorious for their tough defense and the LaSalle coach will be sharing his expertise in that field for two days of the camp.

Gray will speak on individual defense Thursday at noon and Friday at 10 a.m. he will discuss team defense.

"I'm really excited that he can make it," Knudsen said of Gray. "His teams play pressure defense and they play it super."

Other guest speakers will also be present at the camp which will run from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day. Participants will receive a camp T-shirt and a basketball.

For registration information, contact Sandy High School at 668-8011.

1979 hunting regulations available

Printed regulations for 1979 deer, elk and silver gray squirrel hunting have been mailed to license agents all over the state by the Fish and Wildlife Department and should be available at most outlets. Application cards need for all controlled hunts should also be available.

This year three separate publications have been combined into one. The Controlled Hunt Regulations (printed last year in newspaper format), General Big Game Regulations (in booklet form last year) and Management Unit maps with unit boundary descriptions have all been printed this year in a single eight-page newspaper format.

The decision to consolidate everything into one newsprint publication was made for several reasons.

First, this format allows the regulations to be printed and distributed quickly. Last year the controlled hunt regulations were available soon after they were set by the Fish and Wildlife Commission. But the general season regulations, set at the same time, were not distributed to license agents until well into July because of the more time-comsuming printing process dictated by the booklet form. The unit maps were reprinted every few years as needed.

Secondly, the newsprint format means the hunter can have all the controlled hunt and general season information in front of him at once. In the past he had the controlled hunt information available in June but the general season regulations weren't out until about the time of the controlled hunt deadline.

Cost was a third significant factor. The cost to print one copy of this year's hunting regulations was about three cents. Last year it cost two cents per copy for the four-page controlled hunt flyer, 4.3 cents per copy for the general season regulations booklet and 4.5 cents a copy for the management unit map or about 11 cents to provide each hunter with a full set of regulations. Under the new format, printing cost savings over last year amount to $20,000. Other substantial savings are seen in postage costs. One mailing to about 1,000 license agents can be made this year as opposed to two mailings last year.

If you are a hunter interested only in the general deer and elk seasons, your regulations are available now and they look like last year's controlled hunt flyer. Don't wait until July expecting to find a pocket-sized booklet available at the license agent.

Those who are interested in controlled hunts should pick up some application cards at the same time they get their regulations. It is important that the application instructions be read and followed. Drawings are conducted by computer and applications that are incomplete or incorrect are simply not accepted. Those which come in without the proper application fee are also not entered in the drawing. Last year quite a number of hunters missed their chance in the controlled hunt drawings for one or the other of these two failings.

Hunters applying for the four-point buck controlled hunt areas in the Steens Mountain Unit and in the southwest quarter of the Whitehorse Unit are reminded that if successful, they will not be allowed to hunt in any other unit or season.

Two Rocky Mountain controlled elk hunts were accidentally left out of the regulations publication. They are the Ochoco Management Unit hunt, hunt number 237 with 50 anterless elk permits available and Malheur River Management Unit hunt, hunt number 266 with 50 antlerless elk permits. In addition to the hunts listed under "Rocky Mountain Elk Controlled Hunts" in the regulations, these two are also available. Dates for both hunts are Nov. 17 to 25. Successful applicants will not be put on a wait period.

Two other omissions will be of interest to hunters. The Wilson Unit was accidentally left out of the units listed as open under Black-tailed Deer Buck Season and Hunter Choice Season. The Wilson Unit will be open for the general Buck Season from Sept. 29 to Oct. 30 and open in the Hunter Choice Black-tailed Deer Season Oct. 31 to Nov. 4.

Controlled hunts for antelope, cougar and bighorn sheep were set back in March, and a separate one-sheet set of application instructions was distributed to license vendors. The drawing for those hunts was held May 17. All permits have been sent to successful applicants, and no more permits for these hunts remain.

PENTAX SYSTEM 10.
IT'S MORE THAN A POCKET CAMERA.
IT'S A POCKET SLR SYSTEM.

Pentax System 10 is an idea whose time has come. It's the world's first complete SLR system to appear in the compact 110 pocket format.

With the System 10 Major Components Kit, you get the most important parts of that system, all at once.

You get the Pentax Auto 110 camera, the smallest SLR ever made.

You get all three Pentax 110 interchangeable-bayonet-mount lenses: the 24mm f/2.8 standard lens, the 18mm f/2.8 wide-angle lens, and the 50mm f/2.8 telephoto lens.

You get the Pentax Winder 110, which lets you fire off exposures at one frame-per-second.

And you get the Pentax Auto Flash AF 110 P.

The System 10 Major Components Kit is an SLR system in itself. It will probably whet your appetite for the rest of System 10, which includes close-up attachments, lens filters, lens shades, and carrying pouches.

But with the Major Components Kit, most of the incredible System 10 will already be yours.

Camera with 1.8 lens & case $169.97

"Honor Prep" of the Week

Danise Buswell, 15, is an outstanding Pioneer sophomore, awaiting her junior year. She recently placed first in 100-meter hurdles for girls 14-15 years of age at an Oregon AAU Junior Olympics qualifying meet for regional competition July 14 in Yakima, Wash. She qualified with a winning time of 15.1.
