Wife of Gallenkamps Manager Wins Big One

Frank Waite, manager of Eastport's Gallenkamps store got an early Christmas present this year via his wife, Pat. Pat had been following KGW's "Where in the world is it?" contest in which the eighth caller every hour is given a chance to guess the location of the station's hidden winner sticker.

After pondering the clues and purchasing a world atlas, Mrs. Waite, who has Portuguese ancestral ties, registered the correct guess of Encascais, Portugal, to take first prize, $10,000, and a free trip to pick it up.

The couple recently returned from their exciting and rewarding journey, which included two days in Cascais, a day in Lisbon, four days in Rome, and four days in Nebraska. According to Frank the prize was well timed as Pat had been in the midst of a 3½ month layoff from her job.

One of the highlights of the couple's trip was their planned meeting of a priest from their parish in Rome, and touring the Vatican. They also ran into a young man from Holland who spoke English who will visit them in this country soon.
