DEFEND YOURSELF AGAINST THE WINTER WEATHER GANG!

PGE wants to help.

When that gang of cold weather energy users arrives, they can make it mighty uncomfortable for you—right in the pocketbook! Winter brings longer nights and colder temperatures. The result is more heat and lights, more tv watching and frigid water to heat. With higher electric usage comes higher bills. Ways to save. PGE has a library full of free literature on how to save electricity and money. Subjects range from ways to use your appliances wisely and economically to step-by-step instructions on building storm windows, caulking, weatherstripping doors and windows, and much more. This literature is free to our customers and available at all PGE offices.

For do-it-yourself conservationists, PGE sponsors the half-hour "How-To-With-Pete" television show on Saturday mornings at 10 on KPTV, Channel 12. Host, Pete Prlain, demonstrates quick and easy projects to save electricity and money around your home. Depend on PGE! Remember, to get the best of the winter weather gang, just stop by any PGE office. We're here to help!

People with cost-saving ideas for you.

PGE

Don't let high bills get you disconnected.

If you are having problems paying your electric bills, please call us before you are in danger of termination of services. We can help with special arrangements, suggest ideas on how to reduce usage, and discuss other solutions to your problems. For example, you may wish to investigate our Average Pay Plan. It levels out payments throughout the year, thus avoiding seasonal fluctuations.
