Bill aimed at aiding unlucky districts

A bill that would allow a school district's defeated 'B' ballot tax levy to be submitted to voters more times than presently allowed is being sponsored by Sen. Walt Brown, D-Lake Oswego.

Passage of SB 623 would authorize placing a 'B' levy on a ballot after it has been defeated twice following a successful 'A' levy. It is currently waiting for a Senate Committee on Elections hearing.

The catch, however, is that signatures of 20 percent of persons voting in the last election held on the proposed levy must first be gathered on an initiative petition and submitted to the school board.

Under present state law, a 'B' levy that has been defeated twice following passage of its corresponding 'A' levy cannot be resubmitted to voters, not even by initiative petition.

The bill has been drafted by the Clackamas County senator in response to a situation in the Damascus Union School District last November, when several residents gathered more than 300 signatures in an effort to resurrect the district's 'B' levy.

The district's 'A' levy had passed in June, but its 'B' levy had failed in September and November.

Reacting to subsequent elimination of school bus transportation, several Damascus parents had hoped a fourth election could be held on the measure, which had been narrowly defeated, 964-961.

The basis of their hopes was a state law governing special elections for school levies. That law, ORS 255.355, states that a school board may call a special election on a proposed levy if it receives a petition bearing signatures of 10 percent of those who voted in the last election held on the levy.

But when the parents submitted the 300-plus signatures — more than 15 percent of the 1,925 voters in the previous election — to the school board at its November meeting, they learned from Brown that petitioning for a special election in a school district is disallowed in the case of a defeated 'B' levy.

That's because when the 1979 Legislature enacted the statute specifying the 'A' and 'B' levy system, it included a provision that a 'B' levy defeated in two elections after passage of an 'A' levy "shall not be submitted separately at an election authorized by ORS 255.355," Brown said.

Brown's proposal is designed to amend that provision, allowing resubmission of the measure if signatures of 20 percent of those voting in the measure's last election are gathered.

Mobile home application due for Brightwood site

A conditional use application to develop a small mobile home park in the Brightwood area will be considered by the Clackamas County hearings officer at 4:30 p.m. next Wednesday, April 22.

The hearing will be held in the Clackamas County Department of Environmental Services building, 902 Abernethy Road, Oregon City.

William and Mary Lou Dunham propose to develop a two-unit mobile home park. The existing mobile home would be one of the units. The property also contains an existing single family residence.

The property is between Highway 26 and the Mount Hood Loop Highway approximately one-third mile west of their intersection. The area is zoned recreational residential.

The public is invited to attend this hearing. The hearings officer will consider all testimony and written correspondence.

The application is available for inspection at the Department of Environmental Services, Planning Division, 902 Abernethy Road, Oregon City.
