Lagerwell qualified for the national competition, scheduled later in the year in Kansas City, Mo.

The Dairy Products team, also coached by Geren, placed third in the state. Kristie Markwell, Jennifer Mann, Tana Nonamaker, Wendy Rader and Mike Payne were on the team. Mann placed third individually in the contest.

Sandy's Ag Mechanics team placed fourth in the state. Tom Rutledge, Ted Sofich, Art Cansler and Todd Kasch combined to make up the Sandy team, which used its shop skills in the contest. Sofich was high team point man.

4-H club nabs 2nd in contest

The Sandy 4-H Livestock Club placed second in the annual Clackamas County 4-H Livestock Judging contest.

The Tops 4-H Club of Wilsonville placed first.

Participants had to identify various cuts of meat and feed and rank classes of four animals from best to worst.
