TV TATTLE

Horse story

New Mexico tale

Movie makeup artist David Forrest has worked on some of the most recent ones attracted flies and swished their tails.

Forrest worked with a stableful of whinnying horses for the TV movie, "My Old Man," airing Tuesday, July 21 on CBS. "I treated them just as I would any actor or actress," says Forrest, "although I've never been known to tell a person, 'Easy, boy!' while applying makeup.

"I'd just look them in the eye and talk to them to make them relax, and except for those flies, I really had no problems. Best of all, horses can't talk back."

Ron Howard takes the side of the underdog in a world premiere movie to air next season on NBC, now in production

Howard joins Buddy Ebsen in "Fire on the Mountain," a story based on Edward Abbey's novel about an aging New Mexico rancher who is determined to fight local, state and federal authorities seeking to take over his property for the expansion of a missile base.

Ebsen portrays the rancher and Howard plays a young man whose goal of making a financial killing in real estate is sidetracked when he begins to take the side of the elderly rebel.

KRDR was Country when Country wasn't cool.

In 1963 KRDR became Oregon's first 24 hour country music station, so KRDR was indeed country when country wasn't cool.

Country music has changed a great deal since then and so has KRDR. Because we were first, we understand both the old country music and the new country music. We can wear the old western boots and the new Urban cowboy boots as well.

You can be the final judge of whether country is cool, but to hear true country music programmed by people who grew up with it and who really know it, tune to KRDR • 1230-AM.
