Oregon leads in softwood manufacturing

Oregon maintained its lead as the top lumber-producing state in the nation in 1980, despite dropping 20.9 percent from its 1979 production total.

The state produced 5.8 billion board feet of softwood lumber valued at $1.6 billion. Along with the 20.9 percent production drop, the value decreased $610 million.

Inactivity in home building, western lumber's largest market, was blamed for the significant decline in Oregon lumber production, according to the Western Wood Products Association.

Employment in Oregon's wood products industry (excluding furniture manufacturing) dropped by 12,000 jobs in 1980 to 69,200.

reporting and area news coverage.

He holds a degree in journalism from the University of Kansas. He grew up in Kansas and worked for the Pratt Tribune in Pratt, Kansas, where he was sports editor.

The Kansas newspaper won second place in its division in statewide competition for sports reporting under his direction.

Sandy Post news editor Dan Dillon, meanwhile, has been appointed editor with overall responsibility for the newspaper's news product.

He replaces Mark Floyd, a 1977 Oregon State University graduate who resigned from The Post after three years to become new OSU assistant director of sports information.

Dillon joined The Post two and a half years ago as city editor and since has served as news editor before becoming editor.

Dillon, 27, holds a bachelor's degree in communications and English from the University of Portland and a master's degree in journalism from University of Oregon.

THE MILLENNIUM

Listen! I Am Coming Soon!

Rev. 14:5 The Lord will COME with HIS SAINTS. This is the third coming; as the saints went with Him at His second coming.

Rev. 14:4 Christ's feet will touch the Mount of Olives, and a vast plain will be made for the Holy City to rest upon.

Rev. 21:2 The Holy City descends to the place which Christ prepared for it. The saints enter the city as subjects of Christ's new kingdom.

Rev. 20:13 The wicked dead are raised to receive their punishment for sin.

Rev. 20:7 Now that the second resurrection has taken place, causing human beings to live again of the earth, Satan has subjects on whom he can continue his work of deception. He is loosed out of his prison.

Rev. 20:8 The fact that Satan begins immediately to deceive the poor lost sinners is conclusive evidence that his imprisonment for a 1000 years has not changed him in the least degree. And the lost one's are as numberless as the "sands of the sea".

Rev. 20:9 They are, by satanic influence, marshaled for the final conflict. The capital of the NEW EARTH is attacked by the archwarrior and all his subjects, from the beginning of Satan's rebellion in HEAVEN and EARTH surround the NEW JERUSALEM. God's great arsenal will be opened, and fire and brimstone will rain from heaven upon the wicked, and Satan and his angels. They will be "devoured," which means complete annihilation.
