Recording artists set performance

Ginny Reilly and David Maloney, who have worked together developing their own style for 11 years, will be featured Sunday by the Mountain Music group at the Hoodland Women's Club at 7:30 p.m.

They have released four albums for Freckle Records, their latest being "Everyday."

They have sold over 75,000 albums altogether.

Much of their music is original. They have a background ranging from contemporary ballads and folk music to blues and jazz.

They met in 1969 San Francisco, where they each were doing a solo act. They became convinced they should perform together, and have been sharing the same stage since 1969.

Seattle is home. Tickets can be obtained at The Store, Natural Foods and Cafe in Wemme, and the Mt. Hood Food and General Store in Rhododendron.

Tickets are $3.50 for members of Mountain Music and $4.50 for non-members.
