Lynn Redgrave stars in new series on NBC

Award-winning actress Lynn Redgrave will star with Norman Fell in NBC's new half-hour comedy series "Teachers Only," to premiere early in 1982.

Miss Redgrave will portray Diane, a young, idealistic English teacher in a Los Angeles high school; Fell will play the school's principal, Ben Cooper. The series will focus on Diane's relationships with the school's students, faculty and administrators.

Miss Redgrave joins previously announced cast members Adam Arkin, who plays science teacher Mr. Dreyfuss; Kit McDonough, who plays Lois, a school clerk; Richard Karron, who plays the school custodian; Norman Bartold, who plays the assistant principal, Mr. Brody; and Vanessa Clark, who plays the French teacher, Ms. Edwards.

"Lynn Redgrave is a consummate actress," says Brandon Tartikoff, president of NBC Entertainment. "She has established herself as a star of the legitimate theater, films and television..."

Miss Redgrave was nominated for an Emmy award as outstanding lead actress in a comedy series for her co-starring performance as Ann Anderson in CBS's "House Calls." Her other television roles include that of Charlotte in NBC's 26-hour television adaptation of James Michener's best-selling novel "Centennial," in which she aged from 18 to 85; and Kate, widow of Tom Jordache, in the award-winning four-hour NBC mini-series "Beggarman, Thief," by Irwin Shaw.

Lynn Redgrave

She starred in the 1966 film "Georgy Girl," for which she won the Golden Globe award and the New York Film Critics award. And she was nominated for an Academy award as well for "Georgy Girl." Other film credits include "Tom Jones," "Girl With Green Eyes" and "The Deadly Affair."

She made her professional acting debut as Helena in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" in her hometown, London, England. Among her first starring stage roles were Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" and Congreve's "Love for Love."

She made her Broadway debut in "Black Comedy" in 1967, which she followed with "My Fat Friend."

Miss Redgrave is the youngest of three children of the celebrated acting couple Sir Michael Redgrave and Rachel Kempson. Her parents named her after the noted actress Lynn Fontanne. Her sister is the well-known actress, Vanessa Redgrave, and she has a brother, Corin.

Miss Redgrave is married to producer-director John Clark. They have three children: Benjamin (born in 1968); Kelly (1970); and Annabel Lucy (July, 1981).

Women talking

"The Body Human: The Loving Process — Women," a new two-part special to air Tuesday, Nov. 3 and Wednesday, Nov. 4 on CBS, focuses on host Linda Gray and three Santa Fe, N. Mex., women: Anne Fullerton, who is happily married; Nancy Parker, recently divorced; and Sara Fischer, single.

The women explore and discuss their feelings about female sexuality, what it is and what role it plays in their lives. The four women spent a week together, learning about and sharing in each other's lives.

"It is really important to get women to look at themselves, realize their powers, vulnerabilities, frailties, strengths and feelings," says Miss Gray. "This is a show about feelings.
