Mindi Ferguson, Jeff Phipps marry

October 30 was the date selected by Mindi Joy Ferguson of Sandy and Jeff Ken Phipps of Gresham for their wedding. The home of the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cloninger of Gresham, was the site of the wedding and reception. The bride, a 1979 graduate of Sandy Union High School, is the daughter of Donna Ferguson of Sandy and Jack Ferguson of Oregon City. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Phipps of Gresham are the parents of the groom, a graduate of Barlow High School. Marie Cloninger, grandmother of the bride, provided wedding music for the occasion. Attending the bride was her sister Melanie Jill Ferguson of Sandy, while Herman Cloninger, the bride's grandfather, attended the groom. A special feature of the wedding reception was the top ornament on the cake, which was the same one used by the bride's parents at their wedding. The couple will live in Gresham where the bride is a hairdresser.

Achievements earn Ten Eyck Chicago trip

Pattie Ten Eyck of Sandy has won a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Ten Eyck, along with 29 other 4-Hers, will board a jumbo jet Nov. 27, and will return Dec. 4. Ten Eyck, a senior at Sandy Union High School, won the state award for her achievements in agriculture. Since her fourth-grade year she has raised 22 different animals and has been in eight different 4-H clubs. She helped organize and was one of the first directors of the Oregon Junior Simmental Association, and is an officer in the Sandy chapter of Future Farmers of America. In addition to her work with beef, she has had projects in home economics and creative arts, served as a 4-H camp counselor, and has helped with nutrition education programs. Her hobbies include writing, traveling, horseback riding and skiing. While in Chicago she and other delegates will stay at the Conrad Hilton, and will have an opportunity to hear nationally known speakers, enjoy top-notch entertainment, and meet other 4-Hers from the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia. Objectives of the National 4-H Congress include providing stimulating educational experiences and appropriately recognizing accomplishments of 4-H members. National 4-H Congress is conducted by the National 4-H Council, Extension Service and United States Department of Agriculture with numerous businesses cooperating.

Pullen a finalist in FFA contest

Larry Pullen, 20, of Sandy, was a national finalist in the FFA Agricultural Processing Proficiency Award Program at the FFA National Convention in Kansas City, Mo., earlier this month. His interest in the meat packing business began with a meat judging unit in a vocational agriculture class. He went on to compete in district, state and national meat judging contests. He took a job at Sandy Lockers in 1978, where he has gained experience in a variety of methods of cutting meat. Cleaning the locker is also one of his responsibilities. He is completing his apprentice and journeyman training at Portland Community College.

Fund-raiser a success for band

by GWEN BOGH
Post Correspondent

The Barlow Band fund-raiser topped last year's collections and earned more than $500 in scholarships, according to Clarice Moss, coordinator of the fund-raiser, who said the band made it the success it was. Eighty to 100 students distributed 6,000 flyers for the arts and crafts fair, held at St. Henry's Parish in Gresham. Moss advertised it in the Portland newspapers and on A.M. Northwest. Two hundred people were called the night before the event as a reminder. Last, but not least, on the day of the sale the band marched into Gresham playing music while flyers were given to people at stop lights. More than 240 persons had visited the arts and crafts sale before noon Saturday, leaving four hours to go. Chuck Bolten, band leader, expected that by the end of the sale 500 people would have visited. The "Band-aids," a group of parents organized to raise money for the Barlow High School band, engineered the sale. Preparations were begun in September, notifying arts and crafts dealers, renting tables, and organizing a snack bar. Speaking of the parents, Moss said, "I don't have to ask for things, they always offer to help." Bolten said, "There's a tremendous amount of support by a small number of parents here." Articles for sale included jewelry, Christmas decorations, stuffed dolls, wood crafts, stichery and baked goods. Various antiques, such as horns from the late 1800s and a 1928 Lionel Train chugging around a track, were on display. This is the sixth year for the Barlow Band fund-raiser. "They've all been successful—some years more than others," Bolten said. "One year they collected $800." All proceeds from the sale are used for music scholarships, or college and summer bands. A portion may go to the marching band to "offset some of the cost not picked up by the high school," said Moss.

The Barlow High School band plays in downtown Gresham to draw attention to its fund-raiser.
