Day kindles worldwide awareness

More than 200 girls gathered at East Orient Grade School Saturday to celebrate Alpine Thinking Day.

The annual event is a celebration of the birthdays of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell who originated the worldwide movement that became known as Girl Scouts. It is traditionally a day set aside to recognize the international scope of scouting.

Twenty-four troops from Orient, Cottrell, Boring, Damascus, Kelso, Sandy and Firwood experienced an international flavor with the range of their activities.

Kuxeng Yungchu of the Hmong Family Association of Portland made a presentation on the Hmong culture. Edward McRae taught the girls Scottish dancing and Gale Sells showed the steps to folk dances from around the world.

Near the end of the day, the Girl Scouts planted a world peace tree with each troop tying a ribbon with their messages and wishes for world peace; the girls also made 1982 World Friendship patches.

Obituaries:

Traffic wreck claims former resident

Teresa Anderson

Funeral services for former Sandy area resident Teresa Anderson are scheduled today at 2 p.m. at Clayville Chapel in Estacada.

Mrs. Anderson died of injuries sustained in an automobile accident in Portland on Feb. 21. She was 23.

Born Teresa Jo Stiles on Jan. 15, 1959 in Portland, she was raised in the Sandy area where she received her elementary education at Hoodview School in Boring.

After attending Portland Union Academy, she began beauty school and later worked as a hair stylist in Gresham.

She married Robert Anderson on June 18, 1979. They made their home in Gresham.

She is survived by her husband, Robert of Gresham; a son, Robbie of Gresham; her parents, Ralph and Norma Stiles of Sandy; three brothers, Gene and Gary Stiles, both of Portland, and Kevin Stiles of Sandy, and her grandparents, George and Vera Stiles of Walla Walla, Wash.

The family suggests memorials be made to the Robbie Anderson Trust Fund in her memory.

Marie Jadry

Services were held Monday at Carroll Funeral Home in Gresham for Marie Ann Jadry of Sandy, who died Feb. 17. She was 88.

Born Aug. 24, 1893 in Brno, Czechoslovakia, she came to America when she was 27. She married Frank Jadry in Vancouver, Wash., in 1921. He died in 1963.

She was a homemaker and enjoyed raising and arranging flowers. She lived on Jadry Road in Sandy, which was named for her husband's family.

Survivors include two sons, Frank Jr. and Edward, both of Sandy; two daughters, Bessie Milner of Manteca, Calif., and Lydia Palmer of Molalla; nine grandchildren and seven granddaughters. She is also survived by several sisters still living in Europe.

Burial was at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Fred Kubler

Funeral services for former Kelso nurseryman Fred Kubler, 68, were held last Thursday at the Bateman Funeral Chapel in Gresham. He died Feb. 16 in a Portland hospital.

Born May 23, 1913, in Fruita, Colo., he grew up in Ogden, Utah, and graduated from high school in Sparks, Nev. He was employed by Southern Pacific Railroad for 39 years in Sacramento, Calif. At the time of his retirement in 1973, he was a supervisor.

Shortly after retirement, he moved to the Kelso area where he owned and operated a tree farm. He had recently moved to Portland.

He married Anne Louise Larson on June 22, 1940 in Gresham. Mr. Kubler was a member of the Sandy Grange and the Tehama Masonic Lodge in Sacramento.

He is survived by his wife, Anne of Portland; a son, Roger of Mercer Island, Wash.; three brothers, Edwin of Portland, William of LaGrande, and Howard of Goldendale, Wash.; a sister, Paulene Madsen of Roseville, Calif., and two grandchildren.

For those who wish, contributions may be made to the Sandy Grange Scholarship Fund, in care of Nina Stables, secretary, 44901 SE Marmot Road, Sandy.
