

Sandy women to lead conference on aging

Judy Sheppard and Arty Trost, both of Sandy, will be among the leaders of more than 20 different workshops scheduled during the sixth annual Conference of Aging at Oregon State University April 28 and 29.

"Creative Aging: A Time for Action" is the theme of this year's event, which will focus on ways to meet the increased demands for services for the elderly at a time when resources are being reduced.

Those planning to attend the event, to be held in the new OSU Foundation Center, have been asked to pre-register by April 12.

There will be a $15 registration fee. However, senior citizens and full-time college students will be admitted without charge.

Sponsored by the OSU

Program on Gerontology and the OSU Extension Service, the conference will offer continuing education credit for Oregon nursing home administrators.

Sheppard will focus on the award-winning Silver Threads program, which brings children and nursing home residents together in the session called "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

She is Silver Threads project director with the Clackamas Community College Foundation.

Trost, training consultant with Organization Dynamics, will focus on how those who are providing services can assist clients in effective decision-making in a workshop titled, "Make Up Your Own Mind, Mr. Jones."

Ward in Texas for training

Michael M. Ward, son of Byron and Mary Ward of Sandy, has enlisted in the United States Air Force.

Airman Ward, a 1980 Sandy High graduate, departed Feb. 26 for Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. Upon successful completion of a six-week basic training course there, he will receive further training in his chosen career field as voice processing specialist.

He will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic training.
