

Patrons remember victim of accident

Sorrow sometimes brings people together for unexpected shows of warmth and strength.

The patrons of the Gateway Inn, saddened by the untimely death of a popular bartender, banded together last week for such a display.

Rebecca Lee Homsley, 29, was killed March 29 when the four-wheel-drive vehicle in which she was riding overturned on SE Division Street near Oxbow Drive.

A Gresham resident, she had been a bartender at the Gateway Inn for more than a year.

The patrons responded and collected $651 to present to her parents, Clarence and Lucille Salmeier of Gresham, to help defray expenses.

The driver of the vehicle, Gary Alan Johnson, 30, of Eagle Creek, was thrown clear of the vehicle when it missed a curve near 306th Avenue, went into a ditch, hit a post and flipped over several times. He was taken to Gresham Community Hospital.

Her body was found belted in the vehicle.

Ms. Homsley was born May 26, 1952 in Walla Walla, Wash. She grew up in the Gresham area, attending Orient Grade School and Sam Barlow High School. She graduated from Barlow in 1970.

She is survived by her 10-year-old son, Noah; her parents; a brother, Conrad Salmeier of Gresham; a sister, Connie R. Jespersen of Estacada, and a grandmother, Doreen Stevens of St. Johns.

Funeral services were held Friday and private committal was in Lincoln Memorial Park in Portland.

Rep. Smith sets Sandy town hall

Congressman Denny Smith, R-Ore., will stop in Sandy this Saturday, April 10, for a town meeting at the Sandy Community Center.

The 10 a.m. meeting is one of nine that Smith has scheduled during the April congressional recess. It will focus on proposals to balance the federal budget, including the Smith-Grassley Proposal to freeze federal spending for two years until the federal budget is balanced.

"I've offered a proposal to balance the federal budget by freezing federal spending. Simply put, it would allow Congress to only spend as much money as it takes in and no more," Smith said.

I've discussed the plan with Reagan administration officials, such as OMB Director David Stockman, and with House and Senate leaders, but I want to know what Oregonians in Woodburn, Oregon City and Sandy think of the proposal too," Smith said.
