Sophomore selected to leadership seminar

JoEllyn Murillo of Boring has been selected to represent Sandy Union High School at the second annual Oregon Youth Leadership Seminar, which will be held at the Holiday Inn at Wilsonville.

Murillo will join 180 other high school sophomores to participate in the three-day seminar, which will be April 23-25.

This seminar provides high school sophomores with an opportunity to interact with business and community leaders, with the goal of exposing students to the workings of American business and the incentives it offers.

Each high school in the state selected a student to participate in the seminar. The local selection process was open to all high school sophomores.

Representatives were chosen based on evidence of emerging leadership ability, sensitivities to the needs of others, participation in school and community activities, and the desire to expand exposure to the workings of the business community.

At the conclusion of the seminar, one boy and one girl will be selected to represent Oregon at the week-long Hugh O'Brian International Leadership Seminar, which will be held at Northwestern University in Chicago in August.
