

Best auction yet expected

The Mt. Hood Pre-School Co-op Inc. will hold its fourth annual auction Saturday, May 22 at 5 p.m. at the Women's Club in Zigzag. Mt. Hood businesses, as well as Sandy merchants, have donated a generous supply of merchandise to assist the school in holding what is expected to be its best auction ever. Those attending will be able to bid on lodging for two for two nights at Timberline Lodge, two nights at Sunriver, and two nights at the Inn at Otter

Crest on the Oregon coast. Merchandise includes a four-place setting from Dave Enna, local potter, an above-the-ground swimming pool, savings bonds, bunk beds and other furniture, two Franklin woodstoves, tires, hand-made clothes and crafts, new clothes, baby furniture and equipment, restaurant meals for establishments in both Hoodland and Sandy and more. "A most special item to be auctioned this year is a grocery cart full of food," according to Jeri McMahan, chairperson of the auction committee. McMahan, along with Lucy Bowman, Dawn Morrison, Chris Hutchinson and Blythe Creek, helped to organize the event. A preview of items to be auctioned will begin at 5 p.m. with the auction taking place at 7 p.m.

Auctioneer Colonel Tom Cox of Wemme and his wife, Reva, have again volunteered their services, as they have done since the inception of the fundraiser. A snack bar will be set up to sell tacos, hot dogs and beverages. All proceeds will go toward the school's operating costs for the 1982-83 school year.

The co-op is a non-profit school that was formed ten years ago and serves as a resource center where mothers of pre-school age children can come and share ideas and discuss their common concerns.

Students take shots

All students attending Welches Grade School have received the required immunization shots as required by state law.

Vice Principal Gary Dietterich said that four students were dismissed from school who were not immunized by the April 21 deadline.

Oregon law requires that all students attending public schools be immunized against measles, polio, rubella and tetanus by that date.

They were given two weeks to get the required shots or be excluded from attending school.

Dietterich said that he does not think any of the students were out of school longer than three days.

He said that all of the 330 students attending the school have been inoculated.

Hoodland fire district budget hearing set

The proposed budget of the Hoodland Rural Fire District for the coming year will be presented to the budget committee at a hearing scheduled June 8. Fire Chief Don Armintrout said the meeting will be held at the district's main station in Zigzag, and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The proposed $337,080 operating budget is within the 6 percent limitation and therefore will not have to go before the voters of the district for approval, said Armintrout.
