

Summer program kicks off

The Summer Fun Program, sponsored by the Sandy Recreation Department, kicks off its roundup of activities for school-age youngsters in mid-June.

The program will meet daily from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., beginning June 14. The program concludes July 30.

The Summer Fun Program will divide participants into two groups: first through third graders, and fourth through sixth graders. Cost will be $1 for city of Sandy residents and $10 for non-residents.

The groups will meet at Cedar Ridge and Sandy Elementary Schools.

The program will feature recreational activities on Monday and Wednesday mornings, including volleyball, basketball, frisbee, soccer, relay races and a new games festival on July 7, in cooperation with the Sandy Mountain Days Festival.

Tuesday and Thursday mornings will feature arts and crafts, drama, woodworking and a pet show on July 8, in cooperation with Sandy Mountain Days.

Fridays will feature a variety of activities: June 18, zoo naturalist and wild critters; June 25, magic show; July 2 trip to the Children's Museum; July 9, bicycle races; July 16, Columbia River boat trip; July 23, day hike, and July 30, toy and game auction, party and films.

Many of the Friday activities will involve an extra fee. Cost of each activity and trip itineraries will be available the first week of the session, according to Bill Knight-Weiler who will instruct along with three aides.

Participants will be asked to sign up individually for any or all of the excursions at that time.

Each day from 12:30 to 1 p.m. will be lunch time.

Students will need to bring their own lunch.

Swimming time will be available at 1 p.m. for all interested participants Mondays through Thursdays. There will be an extra fee for swimming payable to the Aquatic Center. Summer fun staff will escort the swimmers to the Aquatic Center, but it will be up to participants to arrange pick-up times.

A variety of lessons will also be offered from 1 to 2 p.m. Basketball will be available Monday and Wednesday, beginning June 14 for seven weeks and soccer will be offered Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning June 15. Beginning tennis will be offered at 9 a.m. Wednesdays and Fridays.

A $1 fee for city residents and $5 fee for non-residents will be charged for these classes.

Registration for the Summer Fun Program begins June 1 at the Sandy Community Center. For more information, call 668-5569.

Wemme bank names new assistant manager

Geraldine "Geri" Bell has been promoted to assistant manager of the Wemme branch of U.S. National Bank of Oregon, according to Pete Landis, branch manager.

Bell was most recently the operations officer with the branch. She has been with the bank for four years and came to U.S. from City National Bank in California.

Gene Hoerling is getting ugly as the bartender at the Sandy VFW Post in an area-wide effort to raise money to battle multiple sclerosis.

Bartenders get ugly for funds

They may have a face only a mother could love, but area bartenders are trading on their looks this month to raise money to help fight multiple sclerosis.

However, it isn't their good looks that are being rewarded.

Bartender at several area establishments are in a campaign to elect the Portland Metro Area's Ugliest Bartender. The judges in this reverse beauty contest are bar patrons. For members of the Sandy Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4273, there is added incentive behind their campaign to elect bartender Gene Hoerling as the area's ugliest man behind the bar. Two Post members are battling the neurological disease.

Bartenders get one vote for each 25 cents collected during the four-week voting period. The bartender receiving the largest number of votes will win the dubious honor of being Portland's 1982 Ugliest Bartender, as well as prizes that include a trip to Hawaii.

Voting began May 16 and continues through June 14 at the VFW Post and the Tollgate Inn in Sandy, the Inn Between in Welches and Zig Zag Inn in Zigzag.

Hoerling, who has been a bartender at the VFW Post for a year and a half, spent some 40 years as a carpenter before retiring this past March. Like all bartenders, he has a supply of T-shirts, buttons and mugs for sale promoting the beauty contest.

He will have the collection available to the public this Saturday, May 29, at an antique sale upstairs at the VFW Hall, 38452 Proctor Blvd. The sale runs from noon to 4 p.m. The proceeds will go towards Hoerling's attempt to be named ugliest bartender.

Already he has garnered enough votes to move through some of the degrees of ugliness in the contest. As votes are tallied, bartenders move from sorta ugly to really ugly and, finally, completely ugly.

Welches students eye new careers

The Welches Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a career day that will feature 19 representatives from various professions.

The career day, which the PTA is planning as an annual event, will be held June 2.

According to vice principal Gary Dietderich, the purpose of the event "is to make the students more aware of the different career opportunities available to them."

Dietderich praised the event, particularly the efforts of the parent coordinator, Kathy McKenzie, and the teacher coordinator, Mark Hamby.

Students will be able to attend four separate sessions and listen to professionals who represent a wide range of occupations, both traditional and non-traditional.

Dietderich said that 18 of the 19 professionals live in the Mt. Hood area and most will bring some item representing their work with them.

The professionals who will attend the career day include a harpist, a Continental Telephone representative, a Portland General Electric worker and a test pilot, as well as a number of occupations that fall in between.

Representing one of the more traditional professions will be Oregon State Police Sgt. Dan E. Wolf, who will display his patrol car in his demonstration.

Others include Sharon Lamoreaux, dance instructor; Dr. Mike Moore, optometrist; Dr. Nancy Messerli, emergency room physician with Gresham Community Hospital; Linda Miller, Clackamas County juvenile counselor, and Frank Frijajo, auto body specialist.

On hand will also be those representing careers in also non-traditional areas such as "bridge straightener" Dan Holt, and Amber Furst, a lady race car driver who will have a race car on hand.

Also sharing their careers will be Bob Friedman, Brightwood storyteller and author; Tom Cox, auctioneer; Pat Henniger, who makes bird-shaped hats; and Carl Ostergen, who makes wooden toys.

The Career Day will be held from 9 a.m. till noon, and students will be dismissed at that time for the remainder of the day.
